GERMANY GETS ENDURANCE RECORD

NEW DEFENSE FOR DOOMED MEN

ATTORNEY ADDED TO COUNSEL IN SACCO-VANZETTI DEFENSE

Demonstrations Feared Result Of Failure Of Death Appeal

BOSTON, Aug. 5.—Arthur D. Hill, a "last ditch" fighter at the bar and in politics and a decorated lieutenant colonel at the close of the world war, today took command of the eleventh-hour legal efforts to save Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti from the electric chair.

The former Bull Mooser, who, as district attorney, gave battle in the courts to the Boston blackmail gangs which were ultimately driven from the city, had several legal avenues open.

First, was an appeal to the state courts for a new trial, presumably on newly discovered evidence, resulting from the review by Governor Alvan T. Fuller; second, a writ of habeas corpus; third, an appeal for a stay of execution from the United States Supreme Court, to be made to either Justice Holmes at Beverly, Justice Stone at Isle Haut, Maine, or Justice Brandies at Chatham.

It was learned unofficially that the state court appeals will be made first and if the applications are denied, Hill will carry his legal battle to the highest tribunal, a writ of cerioari already being drawn up.

The so-called "old guard" of the Sacco-Vanzetti defense has refused to give up the fight for the prisoners and it was understood that it was largely through its efforts that the services of Hill were re-enlisted in the celebrated case. The former district attorney is familiar with the Sacco-Vanzetti case, having presented several motions for a new trial several years ago.

Hill took command following the retirement of Attorney William G. Thompson and his associate, Herbert B. Ehrmann. Thompson stated that his appeal to the governor would be his last appeal. Ehrman stated that he had little hope in another appeal to the state courts or to the United States Supreme Court.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Reinforcements of police and plain clothes detectives were on duty in the Wall Street district today to protect banks and the United States subtreasury building from violence at the hands of enraged sympathizers of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti.

Five thousand men and women members of the Workers-Communist party held a mass meeting in Union Square last night and decided to issue an appeal today to all workers in the United States to join in a general strike of twelve hours on Tuesday as a protest against the decision of Governor Alvan T. Fuller, of Massachusetts, that Sacco and Vanzetti must die.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Great demonstrations before the American embassy "to protest against the judicial murder of Sacco and Vanzetti and to demand the reversal of Governor Fuller's decision" are planned here for Sunday.

British protests are being arranged by the international class for war prisoners' aid, and it is announced that the appeals have the support of George Bernard Shaw, H. G. Wells, Lieutenant Commander Kenworthy, M. P., George Lansbury, M. P., James Maxton, M. P., Oswald Mosely, M. P., and John Wheatley, M. P.

PARIS, Aug. 5.—A number of French newspapers, especially those with communist and socialistic tendencies, commented bitterly today upon the decision of Governor Alvan T. Fuller, of Massachusetts, that Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti must die for the Braintree, Mass., payroll murders.

CIGAR MAKERS ARE BACK AFTER STRIKE

TAMPA, Fla., Aug. 5.—Approximately 15,000 cigar factory workers returned to work here this morning after walking out on a general strike yeserday in protest against Governor Fuller's refusal to grand executive clemency to Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti.

After a mass meeting at the Tampa labor temple at which over 6,000 were present, a resolution setting aside the day of execution as a day of mourning was drafted. Every cigar worker was ordered to don black and to hang crepe in the doorways of their homes on the day of execution. Tampa cigar factories will remain closed at that time.

DARK HORSE MAY GET NOMINATION

POLITICIANS FEEL CONVENTION MAY BE REPETITION OF 1920

Think Favorites May Kill Each Other Off At Meeting

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—The practical politicians of the capital, trying to peer through the haze of the next ten months, are already beginning to vision the Republican convention of 1928 as generally similar to the historic 1920 convention.

Whether history will repeat itself as to details and see the favorite out-distanced and a dark horse nominated, as was the case in 1920, can only be conjectured, but they point out that the pre-convention situation is much the same.

The three strong men of 1920 were Lowden, Wood and Johnson. Ultimately they killed each other off and Warren G. Harding was nominated.

The three strong men of 1928 now appear to be Lowden, Hoover and Dawes, with Charles Evans Hughes constituting a possible fourth. In that situation, the political railbirds of the capital see the possibility of another deadlock, and the convention having ultimately to choose another—possibly "drafting" Calvin Coolidge, or permitting the lightning to strike one of the dark horses already beginning to appear in the pasture, "Nick" Longworth, ofr example, or ex-senator "Jim" Wadsworth of New York.

This interesting possibility is, of course, predicted upon the theory that President Coolidge will "choose" not to exert pressure upon the convention in behalf of any candidate, but leave the convention delegates free to fight it out among themselves. If President Coolidge does not "choose" to keep hands off, but should throw the admittedly enormous prestige of the White House behind Herbert Hoover or Charles Evans Hughes, for instance, it would change the complexion of the convention in a twinkling. The practical politicians of the capital are bearing constantly in mind the persistent rumors that Hoover is the residuary legatee of the Coolidge strength, and they are well aware of the high esteem in which Mr. Coolidge has always held his erstwhile secretary of state.

There is, however, still another aspect of the situation that the practical politicians are not overlooking. That is the strong personal friendship between two of the possible "big three," Vice-President Dawes and ex-Gov. Frank O. Lowden. Fellow Illinoisans and intimates of long standing, they see eye to eye on many political problems of the day, notably on the farm problem. Both are on the "outs" with Mr. Coolidge. The speculative politicians of the capital doubt that Dawes and Lowden would carry their personal quests for the nomination to sufficient length to kill each other off.

BLIGHTED ROMANCE OF STUDIOS ENDS; WOMAN SHOOTS MOVIE PRODUCER AND THEN KILLS SELF

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 5.—A blighted romance of the studios ended in a double tragedy here today when Betty Montague, 28, film retoucher, shot and killed Hamilton W. Mannon, 32, motion picture producer, and then ended her own life with the same revolver.

Both were found slumped over in the front seat of an expensive automobile early today. Mannon was dead, his head resting on the girl's lap, when police arrived. The young woman died a few hours later at the emergency hospital.

A small calibre pistol was lying on the floor of the car, just out of reach of the girl's dangling arm. The woman was clad in a house dress, her foot was pressed firmly on the self starter. The grinding noise of the starter motor first attracted passersby, who called police.

Mannon was vice president of the Tec-Art studios here and one of the best known of picture executives.

His business associate, Albert S. D'Agostino, told police that Mannon and Miss Montague had been going together eighteen months.

Mannon recently rejected the girl, his partner declared, and she had been calling him on the telephone at all hours of the day. Mannon, however, has refused to discuss the affair with his partner.

Intimation that jealousy may have been the motive for the shooting was contained in a letter sent to Mannon from New York by a woman whom police are endeavoring to discover as the film man's wife or former sweetheart.

The letter, dated January 2, was signed "Min" and read:

"Ha[illegible] dear. The nearest thing to seeing you, I admit, is a photograph. How do you like the new life? I hope you haven't forgotten entirely. If you are foolish enough to marry please tell the little lady of my existence, for some day I may decide to see you and she would have to know about me anyhow. I might pass as an aunt."

KENTUCKY SELECTS TWO CANDIDATES AT PRIMARY SATURDAY

Race Track Betting Principal Issue Before Voters

LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 5.—Kentucky voters will go to the polls tomorrow to express their opinion on the Pari-Mutue l race track betting law, after the most heated gubernatorial primary campaign in the history of the state.

The Democrats will choose between J. C. W. Beckham, of Paducah, father of the Pari-Mutuels and the racing commission in Kentucky, who is now against race track betting, and Robert T. Crowe, of La Grange, who favors retention of the Pari-Mutuels.

The Republicans will choose between Judge Flem D. Sampson, of Barboursville, advocate of the Pari-Mutuel betting machines, and Robert H. Lucas, whose campaign has been sponsored by the anti-race track gambling element of the state.

For the most part, the campaigns of the four candidates have centered around this paramount issue. The leading newspapers of the state have taken sides, and as the primary draws near, opinion is sharply divided, with all candidates entering confident claims of victory. Beckham's campaign manager claims he will win easily by a 50,000 majority, while Sampson is generally believed to have an advantage in the Republican primary.

Repeal of the Pari-Mutuel law would probably sound the death knell of racing in Kentucky, and veteran racing men, who declare that millions of dollars are brought to the state each year through the sale of thoroughbreds, and thousands of dollars to the state treasury from the track taxes, are exceedingly apprehensive of the outcome of the situation.

NAVAL LIMITATION REMOTE IN BELIEF OF BRITISH PRESS

Feel Geneva Failure Settles Question For Some Time

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Lamenting the failure of the Geneva naval disarmament conference, the British press takes the attitude that the conference has at least demonstrated that further naval limitation is not an easy matter and may be considered as remote.

In semi-official circles the opinion is generally expressed that the Geneva breakdown has demonstrated that the world is hardly ripe for disarmament and that any conferences of a similar nature in the near future, no matter under what auspices, may meet the same fate.

British spokesmen feel, however that there is no need for recrimination between the United States and England because as the Daily Express states "The formula doesn't exist and couldn't be comprised which would reconcile Anglo-America parity at sea." The Express asks what will happen now and answers, "Nothing—Great Britain, the United States and Japan will supply themselves with that amount of seapower, and no more, which circumstances necessitate."

The Manchester Guardian believes that naval armaments are more likely to be increased as the result of the conference failure and say that it is difficult to imagine a debate on important questions being conducted under less favorable circumstances than those prevailing during the recent conference. "It has been petti-fogging in spirit" says the Guardian. "It has been involved in argument and totally lacking in grasp of the general principles which govern relations between Great Britain and the United States.

The Morning Post hopes that no one will be "unduly depressed by the failure of the conference."

The Chronicle expresses the view that the breakdown be-clouds future disarmament conferences.

COLUMBIA TESTED BY FRENCH PILOT

LE BOURGET, France, Aug 5.—Marcel Drouhin took the Bellanca plane "Columbia" up for a one-ton load test today, remaining aloft ten minutes. Final load test, with a ton and a half aboard, will be made this afternoon.

Lieutenant Givon also took the Farman "Bluebird," which he hopes to fly across the Atlantic, up for final tests with a full load. Givon will take his plane to Toussus Le Noble for a final overhauling and hopes to be ready for a hop-off on Tuesday or Wednesday.

BOOTLEGGER HELD

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 5.—Police here today were holding Joe Perise, 35, Zanesville, for federal authorities on a charge of illegal possession of intoxicating liquor. He was arrested here late last night.

DISAPPOINTED DELEGATES TO GENEVA PREPARE FOR RETURN

Discussion Lacking As Conference Becomes Memory —Gibson Bids Farewell To British Delegates.

GENEVA, Aug. 5.—The ashes of the tri-partite naval disarmament conference were exceedingly cold today. There was no aftermath of discussion. There was merely a group of tired and disappointed delegates preparing for departure.

Hugh Gibson, chief American delegate, paid a formal farewell call on those members of the British delegation who remained here. Gibson will himself take a few days rest.

The delegates were unanimous in declaring that, while the Anglo-American deadlock on cruiser strength and gun powder had wrecked the meeting, all parted in a spirit of good will.

Speeches delivered by the American, British and Japanese delegates in the final plenary session at the Hotel Des Bergues were surprisingly moderate in tone. The anticipated "fireworks" failed to develop. Following the meeting there was considerable private discussion as to whether another effort would be made by President Coolidge at the end of the year to bring about a new parley. Gibson, American delegate, refused to discuss such a possibility.

It is understood, however, that President Coolidge may issue invitations to a conference in Washington before the end of his term in office. In that event the same powers who were asked to participate in the present meeting would be invited; namely, England, Japan, France and Italy.

TRAINMEN HURT IN "SPEEDER" WRECK

NEW LEXINGTON, O., Aug. 5.—Three men are recovering today from injuries sustained late Thursday when a motor car on the New York Central railroad climbed a switchpoint at Sayre, near here, and upset, pinning them beneath. W. F. Bollman, general freight agent of the Baltimore and Ohio road at Newark sustained an amputated right leg. C. E. Rossell, division engineer, and Carl Mosure, traveling freight agent, of the same road, sustained minor injuries.

RIOTS KILL 13

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Thirteen persons have been killed and eighty injured in serious religious rioting in Champaran, according to a Calcutta dispatch to the Central News.

FAIR CROWD LARGEST SINCE 1922; 22,000 ON THURSDAY

It is estimated by fair board officials that approximately 22,000 people attended the Greens County Fair Thursday, which is the largest single day's attendance since 1922.

Thursday, always the big day of the annual exposition, fulfilled all requirements so far as the weather was concerned, for the day was perfect. Fair-goers took advantage of this and the fairgrounds were crowded the entire day.

Fair skies again greeted the exposition Friday and the attendance was again expected to be large.

The principal incident Friday was the scheduled livestock parade on the race track at 12 noon, in which the Boy's and Girls' clubs, future exhibitors of the fair, were on display. Other organizations were to have floats and prizes were to be awarded for beef and dairy breeds.

"SPECS" RUSSELL IS CAPTURED AT LAST

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 5.— Joe Russell, otherwise "The Smoked Glasses Kid" otherwise "Specs," Cleveland's will-o-the-wisp bandit today was under lock and key.

After staging a score of hold-ups making two miraculous escapes, and eluding police for more than two months, Russell last night was overpowered and captured, without a chance to draw his pistol in an east side rooming house.

Questioned by detectives, the boyish "Specs" declared he did not know his age exactly, but thought he was 19. He also talked freely concerning his movements of the last month.

His most spectacular escape occurred July 9, when, after being arrested, the youth dragged a detective from a police car and fled with a handcuff hanging from one wrist.

THREATEN TO BLOW UP U. S. CONSULATE

NICE France, Aug. 5.—United States Consul Otis Slazebrook has received two letters threatening to blow up the building which houses the United States consulate.

Residents of the building have moved out of their apartments despite the fact that a police guard has been established.

A futile attempt to bomb the consulate building was made two weeks ago.

FLYERS IN JUNKERS PLANE REMAIN ALOFT MORE THAN 52 HOURS

Flight Breaks Record Set By Chamberlin And Acosta—Germans Exult When Pilots Land—Plane Will Try Atlantic

DESSAU, Germany, Aug. 5.—Smashing the world record for endurance flights, previously held by Clarence Chamberlin and Bert Acosta, the two German flyers, Johann Risticz and Cornelius Ezerard, came to earth here at the end of fifty-two hours and twenty-two minutes of continuous flight, and their first act on landing was to lock arms and drink a toast to each other—in buillon.

The two aviators covered approximately 6,788 kilometers or some 500 kilometers farther than the distance between Dessau and New York. Had the men been flying in a straight line they might have flown from Dessau to Pittsburgh.

The flight was hailed with great glee all over Germany as it was a preliminary test for a flight across the Atlantic in the same Junkers plane, Europa, which the two flyers used to break the record.

The track record of 4,400 kilometers held by the Frenchmen Droughin and Landry was also broken.

Crowds Happy

When the flyers landed the crowds sang "Deutschland Uber Alles," and then there were "hochs" for the flyers and for Professor Junkers.

"The deed is German. . . . The fame belongs to the nation not to us—Thank God Germany still has brave men," said Professor Junkers as he congratulated the flyers.

The Junkers plane Bremen, which set out shortly before the Europa Wednesday morning in an effort to break the world's duration record along with its companion machine, had to quit on account of engine trouble. The Bremen will be started on a trans-Atlantic flight to New York when the Europa hops off.

Almost all the population of Dessau was at the flying field and broke out in a chorus of unroarious "hochs" when news was flashed that the record had been broken. People embraced each other and some of the more exuberant leaped into the air shouting.

Mrs. Ezerard, who had been up all night, cried for joy.

Weather Ideal

The weather was fine for flying. The sky was blue and almost cloudless and the sun was shining bright.

The fuel tank was dry when the machine landed and the propeller stopped whirring the moment the plane touched the ground. Risticz and Ezerard were both fresh and declared they were not tired after their long sky voyage, although it got pretty monotonous. They showed few traces of the strain.

The Junkers works, where the planes were built, declared a holiday for the 3,000 workers. These workers swarmed out upon the field shouting and singing.

Director Gotthard Sachsenberg, of the Junkers works, after looking over the record winning plane, said:

"If the cylinders of the motors of the Europa had been adjusted to the same compression point as the cylinders of the Bremen the Europa would have been able to fly another five hours. For transmission on the trans-Atlantic flight the compression ratio of the motors of both machines will be one to six. That of the Europa on this flight was one to seven giving the engine an extra fifteen horsepower but consuming 10 per cent more gasoline."

JUNKERS PLEASED

Upon receipt of news that the Europa was still in the air at 5 o'clock this morning Prof. Junkers head of the Junkers works, who was spending a vacation at Warnemunde, on the Baltic, boarded a special plane and started for Dessau. He arrived here just about the time the Europa was landing and joined his family at the flying field.

All the directors of the Junkers works and about fifty newspaper correspondents and photographers were at the field.

Shortly after daybreak when word was flashed over the country side that the Europa was still aloft and going strongly people began flocking to the flying field. They arrived in all sorts of vehicles and thousands tramped it on foot.

FLOWERS FOR ACES

The Burgomaster of Dessau arrived at the field in a motor car filled with flowers for the airmen. There were six large bouquets from municipal organizations that filled the machine.

Edzard's first request upon landing was for a cigarette which he smoked greedily.

The plane did not carry all the gasoline load of which it is capable.

The engine was reported to be in perfect condition.

ENGLISHMAN NEARS GOAL OF SWIMMING ENGLISH CHANNEL

Swimmer Reported Mile And One-Half From Dover

DOVER, Eng., Aug. 5.—At 2 o'clock this afternoon, E. H. Timme, an Englishman who is attempting to swim the English channel, was reported one and one-half miles off the Dover Admiralty pier.

Timme started from the French coast at 12:42 a. m.

DOVER, Eng., Aug. 5. — E. H. Timme, English swimmer who is making an attempt to swim the English channel, was reported still swimming strongly at 10:30 today, nine hours after he made his start.

CAPE GRIZ NEZ, France, Aug. 5.—E. H. Timme, of London, one of the twenty swimmers who have been training on the French coast for an attempt to swim the English channel, started at 1 o'clock to try to swim across to England. He was convoyed by the tug Alba. In three hours Timme had covered five miles. He was swimming strongly in the direction of Dover. The water was calm and the weather foggy.

LINDBERGH LANDS IN DAYTON EARLY

DAYTON, O., Aug. 5.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh still has the impatience of youth, it was demonstrated here today, when he landed at old McCook Field at 1 o'clock, an hour before his scheduled arrival. After his arrival at the wartime aviation center, he was informed that he was to have arrived at 2 o'clock and immediately thereafter "we" soared into the air and made for Wilbur Wright Field, Fairfield.

Upon alighting at 2 o'clock, Lindbergh, with Brig. Gen. W. E. Gilmore, commandant at Wilbur Wright Field, went to Woodland Cemetery, where he placed a wreath on the grave of Wilbur Wright, who, twenty-four years ago, mastered the air with his brother, Orville Wright.

Tonight, Lindbergh and Orville Wright will be guests of honor at dinner at the National Cash Register Co. dining hall when 1,200 guests will be seated with him. Lindbergh will be the chief speaker at the banquet.

BOXING PROMOTER IS HELD FOR RANSOM

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—James C. "Jim" Mullen, leading Chicago boxing promoter, has been kidnaped and is being held for ransom.

This was the word flashed in police circles here today following the mysterious disappearance of Mullen after the Loayza-Herman bout here Tuesday.

He is believed to be the victim of the same gang which was reported to have kidnaped and demanded ransom for the return of Jack Adler and Clarence Lazarns.

Adler is a wealthy cabaret owner and Lazarus proprietor of alleged gambling places.

LINDBERGH READY TO FLY TO DAYTON

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Aug. 5.—Mechanics at Langin landing field today were tuning the Spirit of St. Louis, preparatory to the hop off of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, about noon for Dayton, Ohio.

The visit of the trans-Atlantic solo flyer will be his second to the home town of Orville Wright, aviation pioneer, but will afford residents of the air city, their first opportunity of greeting the young hero.

BELLBROOK

Morris Finley, of Dayton, was a Bellbrook visitor Sunday.

The Bobtown reunion will be held at the old Bobtown schoolhouse on the third Saturday in August.

Two automobiles, one bearing Pennsylvania and the other Illinois licenses, passed through town this week.

Shirley and Mary Wetzel of Trotwood, are visiting their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wetzel.

Harry Watson and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Harry McGinnis at their home in Waynesville a few hours Tuesday evening.

Lee Frank who conducted a blacksmith shop here forty-three years ago, was a visitor in the village for a short time last Monday.

Mrs. Rose Watson and daughter, Henrietta and Miss Sowers, of Fairfield, visited Oliver Watson and Nellie Soward a few hours Tuesday.

It is freely rumored that moonshine is being made and sold in several sections of the township.

Township Clerk W. W. Tate has moved into his new home.

The old wilderness battle ground at Waynesville was once more the scene of a terrific conflict when the Bellbrook organization made its advent into the Triangle League on last Sunday and proceeded to scalp the "Top Notchers" in no unmistakable terms. The fact that "Babe" Adams of Sabina, a former league pitcher was on the mound for the "leaders," made it more than probable in the minds of the home bunch that their aggregation would run away with the entire works and retire the visitors to everlasting oblivion. The "Babe" however, proved a sore disappointment to the ones who expected to see Bellbrook hurled back into the reprehensible scrap-pile of obscurity, and was freely slugged by the visitors, whose left-handed batters got nine out of the fifteen hits recorded. The war-scarred farm house came in for more than its share and was left with fewer windows and less weatherboarding than on all former occasions. McMichaels in the pink of condition, stretched his muscular six-foot frame to full height and allowed but one or two hits. A remarkable feature of the game was the phenomenal play of Spahr who caught a foul ball behind the backstop after he had slipped and was falling—clamping the ball as he went down. A heart rendering and uncalled for occurrence took place when a desperate base runner "did unlawfully, willfully and maliciously" remove Goal John's two hundred and fifty pounds from its moorings and gently lay it down on the cool grass near first base. The lineup which defeated the league leaders by a score of 5 to 2 were: McMichaels, p, Spahr c, Cramer 1b, Darbyshire 2b, Sackett 3b, Crowl ss, Sidenstricker rf, Gibbons lf, Ingle cf. This game was the first for Bellbrook in the Triangle League, they having taken the place of a Dayton team which formerly was a member of the organization. They will journey to Wilmington next Sunday and play the team at that place.

Pretty Double Wedding Solemnized Saturday

Beautiful in its simplicity was the double wedding ceremony of Miss Anna E. Gerhardt to Mr. Robert J. Brannum, both of Yellow Springs and Miss Gladys Engle, to Mr. Clarence Johnson, both of Dayton, at the home of Miss Gerhardt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Gerhardt, near Yellow Springs, Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Almena Craner played as her first number "Traumerei," Schumann. Mrs. Philip Gerhardt then sang "Until," Sanderson and "All For You," Bertrend Brown. Miss Craner then played "To A Wild Rose," followed by Mrs. Gerhardt singing "I Love You Truly," by Carrie Jacobs-Bond.

As the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march were heard throughout the spacious rooms, Dorothy Jean Gerhardt, dressed in net over pink taffeta, strewed flowers from a dainty basket in the pathway of the two brides, as they descended the stairway.

At the foot of the stair the ring-bearer, Bobbie Routzong, dressed in a suit of white satin, bearing a white satin pillow was waiting. The brides, dressed in their lovely wedding robes of white satin, wearing wreaths of orange blossoms in their hair, and carrying beautiful bouquets of Ophelia roses intermingled with baby's breath, were met by the bridegrooms.

The bridal party proceeded to the living room where the impressive Lutheran double ring ceremony was performed before a large bank of palms by the Rev. E. A. Kreppert, during which Miss Craner played softly "Love's Old Sweet Song."

The bridal table was lovely in its appointments, with a chosen color scheme of pink and white, which was also carried out in the flowers placed throughout the Gerhardt home. A two-course supper was served the guests, which included only the immediate families and close friends of the bridal couples.

Mr. and Mrs. Brannum and Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left immediately for a motor trip through Indiana and Michigan and have a host of friends who wish them much happiness.

"SHOWER" GIVEN THURSDAY FOR BRIDE.

Honoring Miss Bertha Elnora Sickels, whose marriage to Mr. Russell Johnson will be an event of late summer, Mrs. W. H. Craig entertained with a prettily appointed miscellaneous "shower" Thursday.

Yellow and white snapdragons were used about the rooms, the same color scheme being carried out in all the appointments. Miss Sickels received many beautiful gifts.

Miss Ruth Burns, who will be supervisor of music at Cedarville Normal the coming year, is attending the summer session of Wilmington College.

Miss Alice Rinck, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Shepard, who are in the east on business, were registered at the Grace Dodge Hotel, Washington, D. C., this week.

The Woman's Missionary Society First Reformed Church, will meet at the home of Mrs. W. L. Miller, N. Detroit St., Tuesday at 2:30, instead of on the church lawn as previously announced. The women are asked to come prepared to pay their quarterly dues.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Haler, Anderson, Ind., will arrive Saturday to spend a few days with the Rev. and Mrs. Russell Burkett, Chestnut St.

Mr. J. G. Cowan is leaving Friday night for St. Louis, Mo., to meet his sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert Upp, of Houston, Tex., formerly Miss Ethel Washburn. They will arrive in Xenia Saturday night, where Mrs. Upp will visit some time.

The Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Tilford and two daughters will spend Sunday at Batavia, O., as the guests of former Chief Justice H. L. Nichols.

Louann Marie France, six years old, Springfield, underwent an operation for the removal of her tonsils and adenoids in this city Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. LeSourd, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Fisher are enjoying a motor trip, to continue two or three weeks, through the east.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Faul, W. Second St., are leaving Sunday for Sulphur Lick Springs, to spend a week.

Mr. John E. Munger, Dayton Pike, who was overcome, after overexerting himself at the Fair Thursday afternoon, was improved and able to be about again Friday.

Mrs. Thomas J. Miller, Wilbur Wright Field, was hostess Thursday when she entertained with a bridge-luncheon at her quarters. Mrs. Milo McCune and Mrs. Charles O'Connor will be hostesses next Wednesday when they entertain a group of friends at a bridge luncheon at the post.

Funeral services for Mr. Chas. A. Hopping, 46, who died in Brooklyn, N. Y., Thursday, will be held at the home of his brother, William Hopping, Federal Pike, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with interment in Woodland Cemetery, Xenia.

Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown, Blanchester, O., and Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, Chalmers R. Wilson, Columbus, visited at the offices of the Greene County Auto Club, Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. McKay, W. Church St., spent Thursday in Cincinnati.

Mr. George Poland Urbana, O., is spending a few days in Xenia with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fisher returned home Wednesday from Waterbury Resort, where they spent several days.

Mrs. W. C. Sutton, Waterbury Resort, returned home Friday after spending a few days with Xenia relatives.

Mrs. Arthur Miller, N. King St. attended the bridge-luncheon at the Snowhill Country Club, Wilmington, Tuesday afternoon.

The Kyle-Jackson picnic will be held on the Bryan Farm near Yellow Springs, August 18, it is announced. All relatives and friends of both families are invited to be present.

The Misses Helen Gray, of Dayton, Katherine Herrmann, of Cammonte, and Dorothy Weller, of Spring Valley, attended the double wedding of Miss Gladys Engle Mr. Clarence Johnson, Miss Ann Gerhardt and Mr. Robert Brannum, at the home of Miss Gerhardt, of near Yellow Springs, Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Poland, and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Benson, Johnstown, Pa., are the guests of Xenia relatives and friends for a few days.

Miss Frances McClellan, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon McClellan, Dayton, has returned home after spending a week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. V. McClellan, Pleasant St.

Mr. M. M. Holton, Spring Vellay, is recovering favorably from an operation at St. Frances' Hospital, Columbus. He is the son of Mr. C. M. Holton, Bellbrook, grocer.

Mr. Donald M. Currie, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Currie, W. Church St., who toured Europe with the Ohio Wesleyan University Glee Club, did not return with the glee club, which arrived in the States last Saturday, but remained with Ray Williams and his "Playing Parsons," also from Ohio Wesleyan, for an engagement in France. Mr. Currie is playing the saxophone with the orchestra at a French resort on the West coast. The orchestra will leave for this country September 21 .

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Ballantine and only son, Springfield, and Mrs. John A. Cooper, this city, have returned from their western trip. They first went to Denver where Mr. Ballantine was delegate to the Optimist Club convention and then to Estes Park, Salt Lake City, the Yellowstone and into the Black Hills where they heard President Coolidge give an address and saw [illegible] frame church where he worships.

Mr. James Grube, Cleveland, formerly of Xenia, was here Friday, coming to Dayton to cover the Lindbergh program for the Christian Science Monitor, for which he is Cleveland correspondent.

TO HONOR WRIGHT

DAYTON, O., Aug. 5.— Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will place a wreath on the grave of the late Wilbur Wright, in Woodland Cemetery, Friday when he visits this city. Request to do this came in a telegram from Lindbergh filed in Cleveland. The tribute will be in recognition of the achievements of the inventor who conquered the air and made the flight to Paris possible. The committee in charge immediately replied to Col. Lindbergh that his wishes in the matter will be respected.

INTRODUCING THE CANDIDATES

Under this heading this newspaper will publish a picture and brief sketch of the career of each of the eight candidates for city commission. Selection of city commissioners is an important responsibility that rests upon all citizens of voting age. There are two to elect this year and four of the eight candidates will be eliminated at the primary August 9. The surviving four will go before the November election. Vote only for TWO candidates at the primary.

JACOB KANY

Jacob Kany, 665 S. Detroit St., candidate for the nomination to city commission at the primary next Tuesday, August 9, is a merchant tailor with his place of business on N. Detroit St.

Mr. Kany came to Xenia from Cincinnati in 1883 and has been in business for himself here thirty-six years, in or near the same location. He is best known for his period of twenty-six years service on the city board of education.

He was a member of the city board of health that reported conditions in the old Court House that resulted in the state board of health condemning the old building and eventually resulted in erection of the new Court House. Mr. Kany was a member of the charter committee that drew up the charter for the commission manager form of government.

He also is prominently identified with the Masons, Elks, Knights of Pythias and Modern Woodmen of America lodges. Mr. and Mrs. Kany live on S. Detroit St.

OFFICER APPEALS CASE; NOTE BASIS OF SUIT; OTHER NEWS

Kenneth C. Barr, county road patrolman, through Attorney C. L. Darlington, has filed a petition in error in Common Pleas Court, in appeal from a recent fine of $15 and costs imposed by Mayor F. W. Ogan, Jamestown, upon a conviction of violating a village traffic ordinance.

Plaintiff in error charges the court erred in overruling a motion for a new trial, that the mayor had no jurisdiction to try the case, and asks for a reversal of the judgment.

NOTE SUIT FILED

Suit for $200, alleged due on a promissory note, and an order to sell mortgaged property in order to apply the proceeds in payment of the note, has been filed in Common Pleas Court by A. M. Bryson against Delbert Sheley and Mary P. Sheley. Marshall and Marshall are attorneys for the plaintiff.

AWARD DAMAGES

In the case of the village of Osborn against George H. Snyder and others in Common Pleas Court, upon confession of judgment by the defendants, the court has decided the plaintiff is entitled to $5,000 from Snyder as liquidated damages for failure to perform his contract as provided in bond filed with the village of Osborn.

HEARING POSTPONED

Because Helen Graham, one of the witnesses to the will of Elizabeth Jeffries, deceased, is absent from the county, and the testimony could not be heard Wednesday, the hearing of an application to probate the will was postponed by the court until August 8 at 9 a. m. in Probate Court.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

TWO MAD DOGS ORDERED KILLED AFTR RABIES IS DISCOVERED

Threats of a "mad-dog" scare were stopped Friday by City Health Commissioner A. D. DeHaven and other officials, who ordered two dogs killed after they showed symptoms of hydrophobia. One dog was owned by a family named Palmer on Xenia Ave., and the other by a family named Brown on Whiteman St.

Sheriff Ohmer Tate was ordered by Dr. DeHaven to kill the dogs and their heads will be sent to the state laboratory at Columbus by Dr. W. C. Zell, veternarian, for examination. The dog owned by the Palmers was killed after it showed symptoms of "dumb rabies" after a fight with another dog, Thursday night. The dog's owner separated it from the other dog, and Dr. F. M. Chambliss was treating Mr. Palmer to prevent infection in a scratch on the man's arm. The dog was paralyzed about the jaws after the fight.

The dog owned by Browns did not attack anyone but was reported to authorities when it showed rabies symptoms.

Goldie Freeland, 14, 120 Trumbull St., was bitten on the right hand Thursday night by a dog owned by a neighbor, but it is not thought that the dog was suffering from rabies.

There is no danger of a mad dog epidemic, Dr. DeHaven said Friday. He laid the report of several infected dogs to a temporary hysteria.

The Theatre

Helen Mogge, movie critic, calls attention to the gradual invasion of the moving pictures into nearly every field. "Only a few years ago, there were magazines, and newspapers, too, that simply would not have thought of contributing their valuable space to motion picture discussion," she says. "The films were low-brow entertainment for meager minds."

"In fact, there were people who reluctantly admitted that they have ever attended a motion picture for fear that they might be suspected as being "common." Pictures were supposed to be for kitchen maids and their beaus and people who did not acquire the habit of 'superior thinking.' But things have changed. We observe that liberal space is being devoted to motion picture discussion in magazines that are devoting space to supply informative matter for "high brow" readers only. Of course, some of these magazines still pen their comments on films somewhat begrudgingly, it must be admitted.

"They must first of all consider the high standard of intellectual quality of their readers and not offend them by common and insignificant discussions. Still, they can't leave films out entirely. If things will continue in this direction, motion picture magazines will have to reciprocate and allow some space for style suggestions, for the discussion of deep, entangled thoughts on world problems and a critical review of the world's best literature and music."

Lloyd Hamilton, comedian, has just completed some two-reel comedies to be used in a series. The series is titled, "At Ease," and presents Hamilton in the role of a rookie in an army training camp. His antics, it is said, furnish much laughter.

Flobelle Fairbanks, niece of Douglas Fairbanks, has been cast for the role of "Fluffy," a typical English flapper in "Sorrell & Son," which is now under production.

Constance Talmadge has sailed for Europe with her mother to provide for a new wardrobe in Paris for her next production, "The Last of Mrs. Cheney."

Thelma Todd, a bathing beauty, has been added to the cast "The Shield of Honor." It is a story writeen to glorify the New York police. Neil Hamilton and Ralph Lewis also are featured in important roles.

WOMAN BURGLAR IS CAUGHT IN DAYTON

The first Dayton woman burglar in several years was arrested Thursday by police when Mrs. Anna Pflum, 48, 516 Richard St., was apprehended at her residence. She is the wife of Charles Pflum, real estate man, she says.

Dayton police say the woman confessed to having entered seven residences and stolen goods, found stored in her home. She entered houses both day and night with the aid of a skeleton key.

She is said to have entered the home of J. W. Slack, 222 Parrot St., last Friday night, where she took a quantity of household goods, valued at $75.

Mrs. Pflum was placed in Central police station on charges of burglary and larceny. She is said to be a narcotic addict and has taken treatment at Lima state hospital.

MARYLANDERS TO PICNIC IN DAYTON

Thirtieth annual reunion of the Maryland Association of Ohio, will be held at McCabe Park, Dayton, Sunday, August 14. This park is located just east of the Soldiers Home, and Fifth St. and Soldier's Home street cars pass the entrance every five minutes.

All natives of Maryland and their descendants are invited. The committee has arranged a short but interesting program. The morning session will take care of the business affairs of the organization, beginning at 1 p. m. The early part of the afternoon will be given to a few short talks, songs and music and the Brookville Boy Scout Band will furnish music.

There will be an old time basket picnic.

We've just heard of a circus thriller. A man puts his head in the lion's mouth and then lets the trainer kick the animal in the stomach.

It was a small backwoods village. A motorist stopped at a shack and asked the way to the next village. A lanky youth ambled to the door.

"Boy," asked the tourist, "How far is it to Hickman?"

"Waal," drawled the youth. "I don't rightly know. But I'll call Jed. Jed's traveled all over. He's got shoes."

BIBLE THOUGHT

A SURE TESTIMONY:—But Thou, O Lord, art a God full of compassion, and gracious, long suffering, and plenteous in mercy and truth. Psalm 86:15.

REFORMATION BY FORCE

An Indianapolis judge, the other day, "sentenced" a young offender against the law to attend a citizens' military training camp, this summer. It has become quite common for well-intentioned but unthinking judges to "sentence" misdemeanants of small-time criminals to join the Boy Scouts, or to attend church or Sunday school regularly for a given period, or to connect themselves with some other uplifting organization.

Of course there is no legal authority for a judge to do a thing of that kind, and could be none. What the court actually does is to assess the customary jail or reformatory term and then suspend the order on condition that the culprit ally himself with some of the better forces of the community.

Supposing you who read this were the poor duffer thus "sentenced," what do you think the effect would be upon you? Of course you would do as you were told and become a Boy Scout if the Boy Scouts would admit you, which they shouldn't; or you would attend church and Sunday school every Sunday for 26 weeks, but if you have the make-up of the ordinary boy or man you would comply in hardness of spirit, and never after you were released from your agreement would you have further use for the excellent organization to which you were consigned willy-nilly.

Maybe here and there an unlucky culprit actually would be affected favorably by his unaccustomed environment, but more likely the victim would look upon an excellent institution thereafter as something designed for the punishment of offenders against the criminal law.

One may be punished by force, but he cannot be given a good character by force.

Steady Does It, Mates

The Way of the World

SOME NEVER LEARN

Indiana has a large pan of very thick political stew. There have been strange, mysterious, not to say corrupt, political doings in the state for some time. Good Indiana citizens will be either humiliated or indignant. And yet these good citizens, too busy to vote and too indifferent the rest of the time, bring their bad government down on their own heads. And Indiana is not worse than other states. Democracy's biggest problem is to devise some way to get better folks to run for office. Now and then a thoroughly good man does run—and he gets so much hard criticism that he gets out in a hurry.

BARNUM USUALLY FIRST

Hard to keep ahead of Barnum. Fifty-three years ago the great showman proposed a balloon flight to Europe. He offered $50,000 to promote the enterprise. he public is still being entertained and thrilled by the things Barnum thought of first.

PARKING CHILDREN

Americans traveling in Europe often leave their children in schools, homes or hotels in England. The "Come to Britain" movement promotes the idea. Parents pick up the kiddies on the way home. Haven't we problems enough in this complex civilization without having to face the problem of finding parking places for children?

STILL BEING DONE

When James W. Bancker was elected to the board of directors of the Western Electric company in Chicago a few days ago, few people were thrilled by the item in the newspaper. But Jimmy Bancker "broke in" to his present company when he was 15. He got a job as office boy. Soon he got to being assistant to this, that, and the other official. Other office boys, scores of them, dropped out, but Jimmy kept on going. It can be done. It is still being done by those who have two things—ambition and industry.

DON'T BE AFRAID OF YOUR JOB

Few things stand oftener in the way of success than fear that you can't make good. Of course you can make good, unless you are sure you are a moron And if you are a moron you will probably never be sure of it. If you honestly think you can't make good, don't let anybody suspect you think so. By hiding your fears you can usually lose them.

Remember your self-respect. It's self-respect that forces people to make good.

HAVE A LOOK

An old prophet once said that it is fit for a man to know his own abilities and weaknesses. Perhaps many think too much about themselves. It isn't healthy to ponder too much upon your own ups and downs. But it is the part of good sense to take stock of yourself once in awhile. Face your weaknesses as well as your abilities and see what you can do about them.

There is probably too much emotion in the world and too little cold thinking.

CLOSED DOORS

ALONG the rows of city streets
All the doors are tight,
With locks snapped firmly through the day
And bars on them at night.

The world, unwelcome, passes;
The stranger stops to stare.
The closed doors shut me, lonely, out
I am not wanted there.

I have not meant to frighten folks
As these closed doors chill me;
And I would put this welcome up,
For all to read and see:

"Good kindly friend, be not misled!
My door is barred, it's true.
It's just a timid custom here—
They're never closed to you!"

KELLYGRAMS

by Fred C. Kelly

HAVE WE ENOUGH STUPIDITY?

I often hear people speak slightingly of morons. If a man regards his neighbor as stupid—perhaps because they do not share the same views about religion, politics, or dogs—he asserts that his neighbor is a moron; and he does so in a half-sneering manner.

Now, just what is the matter with morons? Why should one deride or belittle them? Many of my best friends seem to be morons and I find them thoroughly congenial. But apart from that, isn't the greatest need of the world today for more and more morons?

What I'm getting at is that we always have plenty of men and women ready to take the dignified, easy jobs, but where should we be if there were not a suitable supply of folks not too blamed smart, and willing to do the drudgery?

With our modern quantity production and repetitive processes, hasn't skilled labor or intelligence become less and less important?

Since stupid people are so essential to modern business, doesn't it behoove us to look ahead and insure a permanent supply?

Luckily, current demand for the stupid has provided a scale of wages that enables them to marry early and raise large families. But you may ask: Will their children also be stupid enough?

I think they will be, because stupidity tends to marry stupidity, and vice versa; and, presumably, the off-spring will be stupid, too, or stupid enough for all practical purposes.

The problem is complicated, though, by the fact that as morons become more necessary to modern business, they can demand higher wages until they gradually grow prosperous—even wealthy. Then their children, instead of being willing to engage in useful endeavor, go to Harvard, Yale, or elsewhere, and the first thing we know, instead of taking their parents' places as toilers, they appear in fashionable society. They become Prominent Citizens, and Honorary Pallbearers.

Education, it must be remembered, does not make a stupid person any less stupid.

It merely makes him less useful.

The Sons of Veterans' Band which is to play at the Greene County Fair Thursday and Friday, has secured the services of James Thomas, "the man who sings to beat the band."

A vigorous campaign, with meetings for eight consecutive nights, is being conducted by the "drys" at Yellow Springs, preceding the local option election in the village, August 12. Monday night the speaker was Hon. Wayne B. Wheeler.

Mr. Joe Watt and Miss Pearl Zell are in charge of the vegetable and grain hall again this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Scott went to Sulphur Lick Springs on Tuesday where they will spend a week.

My Dear Followers:

When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose TEN cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, NOT OVER 200 WORDS, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED ENVELOPE if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.—Lulu Hunt Peters.

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS

Summer Dont's For Mothers:

"I have just heard from a friend of mine that her doctor cautioned her not to feed raw fruits to her little boy during the summer, with the exception of oranges. I have been allowing mine some cantaloupe which hasn't apparently hurt him. Should young children, two to three years of age, be allowed raw cabbage? Mrs. V."

During the hot summer, it is highly important to see that all food is kept near ice and away from flies, and care be exercised not to over-feed, and to give liberal amounts of cool water.

I suppose the reason the doctor advised against the raw fruit is that there is a possibility of its being over-ripe and too much eaten. But it seems to me that if the fruits are in good condition, the child should have them as usual, because they have the vitamins and mineral elements and a lot of water.

It must be remembered that when it is very hot over a considerable period of time, there may be a depression of all of the functions, and the tolerance for food may be diminished somewhat, and children may suffer from slight nutritional disorders. On account of this depression, more than the usual attention must be paid to keeping the food free from contamination, for infection is more apt to gain a foothold.

During the heat of the day, babies should have all their clothes removed, and frequent sponge baths given.

Yes, raw cabbage, if very finely ground and chewed can be fed to children. It's an Ace High vegetable (vitamins and mineral elements). Babies can also have fresh cabbage JUICE.

We have a list of modern books on child feeding which you may have by sending a fully self-addressed stamped envelope with your request.

Long Trousers for Little Boys?

Mrs. J.—Those suits for little boys, similar to men's, with long trousers, are atrocious as well as unhygienic. It's bad enough for men to wear them, without inflicting boyhood with such styles.

Have your boy's legs bare in the summertime, so that he can get the ultra-violet rays of the sun on them.

I think it is best for children to wear sandals on account of the possibility of cuts and bruises, and possibly infection.

Sunlight for Babies

During the intense heat of the middle of the day in summer, children had better not be out in the sunshine, but in the morning and the later part of the afternoon, they can be, and they should be out of doors a large part of the day, not only for the sunlight but for the fresh air.

Children should not be allowed to stay in the direct sunlight long enough to be sunburnt to the point of pain. It is quite common for children at the seashore to burn so that some of them are actually ill from it. If they put on their bathing suits for only a short time the first day, and a little longer the next, etc., they will not burn, and after they are thoroughly tanned, they can stand almost any amount of exposure (but not in the hottest part of the day.)

This would apply to babies as well as children. Babies should not have direct sunlight in the eyes. It is all right to have it shine on the face, but not facing the sun.

Mrs. K.—We have a list of books on Sex Hygiene. Send a self-addressed stamped envelope with the request for the list of books recommended to parents and guardians of children.

How to Achieve Beauty

by Mme. Helena Rubenstein

SUMMER BEAUTY BATHS

Cleanliness is half of beauty's battle and this is truer in summer than at any other time of the year. Yet it is surprising how few people take baths intelligently. The woman who takes a hot bath in the morning wonders why she feels tired all day.

Cold baths are wonderfully exhilarating but cannot be recommended for every type of person, especially if she is not accustomed to it from an early age. The happy medium is the tepid bath. Then there are a number of special baths that are wonderful aids to beauty. I know of few remedies that will do as much to help put jangling nerves back in tune and restore a tensely drawn face to beauty as the pine needle bath. Break a pound of resinous pine needles into bits, put them in water and boil for half an hour. Then drain the liquid off and add all or part of it to a tub of warm water.

A real beauty bath is the starch bath. Add six tablespoonfuls of powdered starch to a half tub of warm water and soak yourself in it for several minutes (after your regular cleansing wash, of course). The starch imparts to the skin a delightful velvety softness, whitens it and soothes any irritation.

Then there is the buttermilk bath which many famous actresses swear by. Rub the buttermilk into your skin while standing in the tub. Let it dry a little, then rinse it off with warm and then cold water.

Here is another bath that might surprise you. It is the ozone bath. Open all the windows and let the fresh air in. Then rub yourself vigorously all over without getting into the water at all.

MAKING MODERN MENUS

Mrs. Jones—"We were out in the country last night and bought three dozen fresh eggs at a farm house. Can you use any?"

Mrs. Brown—"I'd love to buy a dozen from you. We are very fond of—"

EGGS AND ASPARAGUS

Vary the lenten dish of eggs this way: Halve eight hard-boiled eggs lengthwise. Drain a large-sized can of asparagus, cut the asparagus into inch lengths. Butter a small baking dish, put in one-half of the eggs, yolks up, and spread the asparagus over them; put on the remaining eggs, yolks down. Make a sauce of one cup of asparagus liquor, two tablespoons each of butter and flour, one tablespoon of salt, one-eighth of a tablespoon each of pepper and paprika and add it to half a cup of cream scalded. Put this over the eggs, sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs and bake fifteen minutes in a hot oven.

EGGS DONOHUE

Three English muffins, six sardines, six eggs, Hollandaise sauce. Split and toast the muffins on one side. Heat sardines, and poach eggs. Arrange sardines on the muffin, then the eggs and cover with Hollandaise sauce. Serve at once.

VEGETABLE OMELET

Put one rounding tablespoon of butter into a frying pan to heat. When hot slice the well-washed vegetables into it, in thin slices. Saute five minutes. Dish onto the platter and put in the oven to keep warm. Break four eggs into a bowl. Add four tablespoons of water and beat slightly. Turn into the hot pan. As this browns, lift the edge to let the liquid run under until all is cooked and the bottom a delicate brown. The top should be creamy. This should be made rapidly and watched every minute. Put two tablespoons of the vegetables from the oven on top of the omelet. Fold and serve immediately on the hot platter, surrounded by the vegetables.

Simple treatment can be used by anyone

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 28:—"I am a practical nurse and have been taking care of a patient—an elderly lady, 72, confined to her bed by paralysis. She had been obliged to lie on her back for months and a bed sore developed—the worst I have ever seen. The skin was broken and inflamed and an ugly secretion came from it. I applied Resinol Ointment and in twenty-four hours noticed improvement. After one month's use the sore was practically healed. Hoping this letter may help someone else, I am, gratefully yours."—(Signed) E. S. Caldwell, 4122 Chester Avenue.

Resinol Ointment has many other uses. As a soothing dressing for chafing, burns, rashes, etc., it is in thousands of homes. Your druggist sells it.

SHE WENT FROM BAD TO WORSE

Down to 98 Pounds—Finally Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Cleveland, Ohio.—"After having my first baby, I lost weight, no matter what I did. Then a doctor told me I would be better if I had another baby, which I did. But I got worse, was always sickly and went down to 98 pounds. My neighbor told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it helped her very much, so I tried it. After taking four bottles, I weigh 116 pounds. It has just done wonders for me and I can do my housework now without one bit of trouble."—Mrs. M. Riessinger, 10004 Nelson Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

If some good fairy should appear, and offer to grant your heart's desire, what would you choose? Wealth? Happiness?

Health? That's the best gift. Health is riches that gold cannot buy and surely health is cause enough for happiness.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be the good fairy who offers you better health.

Little Old New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—A current advertisement describes a famous opera in the following snappy terms for the purpose of luring the customers to its movie counterpart:

"THIS IS THE TROPICAL TALE OF CARMEN AND HER TEMPESTUOUS LOVE AFFAIRS, AND OF THE GREAT TOREADOR WHO THREW THE BULL—AND HOW!"

Last night I was addressed by royalty in rather intimate terms. If you do not understand the full force of what I am about to relate to you, it is because you have never been inside Roxy's "Cathedral of Motion Pictures." I was addressed as an equal by one of the elaborately uniformed young men in attendance there. Never make the mistake of referring to these young men as ushers: they are too austere and aristocratic for that. In their get-up they make the Prince of Wales in full dress uniform look like the super who carries a spear in a Roman mob scene.

Can you imagine the shock you would get if a chap you recognized as the Prince of Wales should come up to you and say, "I beg your pardon, old chap; but I'm a stranger in this town. Could you tell me where a toff might get a slug of gin?"

Well, I entered the Roxy and was humbly standing in line waiting for a seat. One of Roxy's young princelings said to me, quite casually mind you:

"Now that's a pretty ballet, isn't it?" He referred to some undraped ladies who were doing what has somehow got to be called "interpretative" dancing.

I nodded.

"See the girl in green, second from the left? She's the captain. She's one of the nicest girls you'd want to meet, awfully nice kid."

It was too much. I mumbled and stammered and hemmed and hawed, and could not think of a thing to say in reply to the uniformed young princeling.

Another gyp racket has been discovered by this column. In lower Manhattan, Nassau St., is filled with haberdashery stores. About a week ago one of my spies saw a sign in one of the windows of such a shop, advertising broadcloth shirts with collars attached for $1 apiece. This seemed a great bargain to him and he entered the shop to lay in a stock of shirts.

But it seemed that the store was just out of shirts his size. They were expecting more tomorrow. In the meantime, however, they had some very fine shirts ordinarily selling at $3.50 (so the clerk said) which they reduced to $2.49. These were not what my spie wanted, so he walked out.

The next day he happened to be passing the store and remembered that another consignment of shirts his size at $1 each were due. Again he was disappointed. The shirts had not come yet.

He grew suspicious. The third time he deliberately went into the shop and asked for a size larger than he actually wore in the broadcloth shirts. Again he was told that there were no more shirts of that size left, but that he could have a bargain in a more expensive shirt.

Just to prove to his own satisfaction that this was a stock trick, he went into the place on three later occasions and asked for three varying sizes of shirts advertised for a dollar. They never had "just that size" on hand. But the sign in the window remains. "Genuine English Broadcloth shirts—$1.00."

Columbus Pacer Takes Feature Event At Fair

ERSKINE DRIVES ORION TO WIN; "UNCLE STEVE" GIVEN OVATION

Favorable Weather And Fast Track Helps Big Day Of Racing—Six Events Win—Joe Hagler Of Xenia Pilots Money Horse

By PHIL FRAME

The largest crowd of several seasons, a fast track, perfect weather and fine racing, all helped inaugurate the delayed opening of the 1927 Southwestern Ohio Shortship Circuit meeting at the Greene County Fair Thursday.

Six races were on Thursday's card, three of which had been held over from Wednesday when a muddy track prevented racing. The feature event of the long program Thursday, the Greene County Lumber Co., $500 purse for 2:14 pacers, was captured by Orion, a gelding, by Ortolan Axworthy, in straight heats. The pacer is owned by George McCrea, Columbus, and was driven by Erskine.

Orion paced the mile in 2:09 1-4 in winning the second heat in the best time of the day. Billy Fitch was second and Steve O'Boy third.

"Uncle" Steve Phillips, Washington C. H., 86-year-old trainer, was enthusiastically applauded by the crowd when he drove his colt Rex Forbes, to victory in the first heat of the three-year-old and under trot for a $300 purse, one of the races held over from the previous day.

The veteran trainer, who never resorts to the whip, won the initial heat in 2:15¼ and set such a fast pace that four horses in the original field of seven were distanced. The veteran experienced tough luck in the last two heats when Rex Forbes broke both times, on the last occasion his check rein breaking, permitting Harvest Watts to win the last two heats and the race. Harvest Watts is owned by A. M. Swan, Marietta, and was driven by W. Roush.

The opening event of the afternoon, the 2:18 trot for a purse of $350, went to Missing Wonder, the favorite, in straight heats. Joe Hagler, Xenia, driving the trotter, which is owned by William Irwin, Lebanon, had a buggy ride in every heat of this race and was never seriously threatened. Antoinetta, owned and driven by Frand Hedrick, Urbana, finished second each heat.

Pauline Evans, ch. m., by Oliver Evans, owned by V. R. McCoy, Washington C. H., and driven by C. Smith, raced to a dramatic victory in the three-year-old and under pace for colts for a purse of $300, the only event of the day that necessitated a fourth heat to decide the winner.

Easter Lilly owned and driven by A. H. Clark, Lima, captured the first heat, and Foxy McKinney, with A. T. Morrison, Fremont, up, won the second heat. After finishing fourth and second, respectively, in the initial two heats, Pauline Evans easily won the third heat. With only the three heat winners returning for the fourth and deciding heat under the rules, Pauline Evans barely beat Foxy McKinney to the wire. It was no hippodrome affair as is usually the case in the event of a fourth heat.

Miss Ellen Todd, b. m., by Todd Mack, driven by Blizzard, and owned by the Baron Bell Farms, Parkersburg, W. Va., was the only other straight heat winner of the day, capturing the third event on Thursday's card, the 2:14 trot for a $400 purse.

The winner had an easy time of it the first two heats but had to be furiously driven in the third heat to wind up ahead of The Belmont, The winner carried The Belmont wide as the two horses neared the wire, otherwise the positions of the two trotters might have been reversed.

The first division of the 2:22 pace, carried over from Wednesday, had eleven starters and furnished plenty of thrills before Vivian Grattan, br. m., by Grattan Royal, owned and driven by A. T. Morrison, agent, Fremont, won a split heat battle.

Vivian Grattan won the first and third heats with Henry Logan, owned by O. W. Crane, agent, Marion, carrying off the second heat. Exceptionally good time was recorded in each heat.

In a race such as that, with a big field starting, racing luck matters largely, the draw for position cutting a large figure. However, both free-legged pacers were fortunate in obtaining good positions.

The second division of the 2:22 pace scheduled for Wednesday, was held over until Friday's card. This race was divided by the track officials because of the great number of entrants. Racing was scheduled to be called at 12:30 Friday to take care of the large card.

The new grandstand was packed to overflowing Thursday and the return of summer weather served to stimulate the highest possible interest. The finishes were extremely close in several contests. It was a long afternoon, the racing starting at 12:30 and finishing at about 7 o'clock. Summaries:

NOTES OF THE RACES

It was estimated by fair board officials that there were 2,050 paid admissions to the new grandstand and 317 more along the quarter stretch. Every seat was taken and the new stands were found to be exceedingly comfortable, a great imurovement over the old.

The track was fast, having rapidly dried out under the sun's warming influence, and withdrawals were few. The contests were excellent and the time testified to the fact the track was in much better condition than was expected.

A. E. Staup, Tippecanoe City is the starter this year. Judges for the racing are J. L. Haston, Eaton; George Beal, Jamestown, and W. B. Bryson, Xenia. Timers are Dan Ulrich, Ingomar; J. W. Faulkner and Willim Dodds, Xenia. C. M. Austin, B. U. Bell and Grant Miller are members in charge of the speed department.

Charley Slaight, driving Steve O'Boy for H. G. Chaney, Sabina, in the 2:14 pace, drew the only $25 fine imposed by Starter Staup during the afternoon. Staup imposed the penalty when Slaight repeatedly ignored his warning not to score ahead of the pole horse, an offense which delayed the start of the second heat.

Missing Wonder, owned by William Irwin, Lebanon, and driven by Joe Hagler, this city, won the 2:18 trot in straight heats in easy fashion and has been the winner or contender in all starts this season, having won three straight races. The trotter is perfect mannered this year but it was not always thus. The horse was a tough customer last year and made a poor showing but has shown great improvement since Joe Hagler was given charge of its education.

"Uncle" Steve Phillips got a big hand in the winning of the first heat of the three-year-old and under trot with Rex Forbes, but unfortunately the colt broke the last two heats. The veteran trainer drove a particularly spectacular race in the second heat. His trotter broke at the first turn and was ten lengths behind, but recovered and caught up with the leader at the three-quarter mark, and looked the winner until it broke again.

The Xenia Municipal Band played for the entertainment of race fans between heats of every race Thursday, and fair patrons were further amused for ten minutes following the final heat of the 2:14 trot, by the daily exhibition of auto polo by two polo machines of the Xenia Auto Polo Club.

LEARNS OF DEATH

Frank Cannon has received word of the death of his grandfather, Frank Cissina, Peebles, O., Wednesday. Mr. Cissina was ninety-one years old.

"UNCLE STEVE", VETERAN OF HARNESS RACES, DRIVES HERE

"UNCLE STEVE"

"Uncle" Steve Phillips, 86-year-old horseman, uncle of Stephen G. Phillips, popular Xenia race starter, and an entrant in the Greene County Fair races, recalls to mind the fact he was once owner of "Sleepy Tom," king of pacers in his day.

"Uncle" Steve entered his promising colt, Rex Forbes, b. g., by U. Forbes, in the three-year-old and under trot, which was run off Thursday. Not only that but the veteran horseman drove the juvenile himself to second money in the event.

"Uuncle Steve" recalled his purchase of "Sleepy Tom" in a recent conversation with J. Robert Bryson, secretary of the fair board.

Foaled in a hotel stable at Bellbrook in 1866, the blind pacer was an unpromising colt in gait and appearance and there was nothing about him that would even hint of the greatness he would achieve on the track.

During his early coltdom and after being broken he led the life of a vagabond and was racked about the streets of Bellbrook as a common "plug." His owner, Isaac Dingler, began training him with but indifferent success.

His career seemed sealed when he became stone blind. He was then withdrawn from the track and repeatedly sold and traded, finally becoming an occupant of a livery stable in Xenia.

Phillips, who trained some trotters and pacers in a small way, bought the chestnut horse for a song and began to train him. After the blind pacer had performed a practice mile in little better than 2:30, the horse made his debut on the turf with the best.

At the races held at Chicago, July 24 and 25, 1879, "Sleepy Tom" won the third, fourth and fifth mile heats in 2:16½, 2:16 and 2:12½ for a purse of $15,000 against the three greatest pacers of the year. His time in the last heat set a world's record. After lowering the record, he was sold for $10,000 and came to an untimely end. When he became too old to be of any value as a race horse, he drifted from one owner to another and finally perished in a burning stable in the West.

He was the greatest pacer, when his chances are taken into consideration, that the world ever saw. "Uncle Steve" is now campaigning his sixtieth year on Ohio tracks.

CENTERVILLE WINS FAIR QUOIT TOURNEY IN LAST MINUTE RUSH

Entering on the closing day and winning eight out of nine games in three matches, the Centerville Quoit Club won the annual intercity quoit tournament at the Greene County Fair Thursday afternoon.

Centerville's team was composed of Lackey and Himes.

The Xenia Quoit Club's No. 1 team took second place while the Xenia No. 2 team won third money. Dayton Shrine Club finished in fourth position, out of the prize money.

Centerville drew down $12.50 as first prize and Xenia won $7.50 for second prize and $5 for third prize.

Centerville took two out of three games from Wagner and Hughes, composing Xenia's No. 1 team, and then won three straight from the Shrine and Xenia's No. 2 pair.

Shrine was again represented by Pickrel and Greene and Xenia No. 2 by Devoe and Merritt.

Final standing:

Team	Won.	Lost
Centerville	8	1
Xenia No. 1	6	3
Xenia No. 2	3	6
Shrine	1	8

Sport Ritticisms
by BILL RITT

The annual New York state chess tourney is under way. This paper will carry final scores in its Thanksgiving Day issue—if the tourney is over by then.

Chess tournaments require a great deal of thought. For instance: Why are the held?

Chess rules are very strict. Each opponent must positively make a move within twenty-four hours, and it is absolutely forbidden to snore in the clinches.

Time out is allowed only for shaving and paying the monthly gas bill. A certain type of mattress is also specified for use between moves.

It shall be the duty of the chess referee to wipe away all cobwebs which may gather and to notify the contestants of their insurance premiums coming due.

BAYLIFFS TO PLAY DOUBLE HEADER IN LEAGUE ON SUNDAY

Rain washed out the scheduled Triangle League game between Wilmington and the Bowersville Bayliffs at Wilmington Sunday, a close inspection of the field revealing an over abundance of water.

Bayliffs will play a double-header at Jamestown Sunday, the first game starting at 1:30 p. m. in the league.

Waynesville continues to hold a half game lead over Wilmington Modern Woodmen have withdrawn from the loop and have been replaced by Bellbrook, the latter club consenting to take the league standing of the Woodmen and finish out the schedule of this team.

League standing:

Team	Won.	Lost.
Waynesville	8	5
Wilmington	7	5
Bowersville	6	5
Bellbrook	6	7
Spring Valley	5	7
Jamestown	5	8

PLAYGROUND LOOP GAMES POSTPONED

Because of confliction with the Greene County Fair, the scheduled Class A Xenia Playground League soft ball game between the Kiwanis Club and Senior Business Men was postponed Thursday night.

Many members of both teams found it inconvenient to participate in the game, and the contest will be played off later.

Junior Business Men and Boy Scouts will meet in a Class A contest Friday night.

A nickel will do it!

JUST 5c will put you and your taste on top of the whole smoke-world! Will bring you a fresh Havana Ribbon—mellow and fragrant from the box!

Hard to believe? Sure it is! You're always hearing about 5c cigars that are "really worth more." But listen. Here's a cigar that actually sold for more for years. That sold big! And the only reason the price is a nickel today is those self-same volume sales!

Man, it's an honest-to-goodness real cigar—Havana Ribbon. The kind you'd pick on pure smoke merit alone! Just try it. A nickel will prove it at the nearest cigar store. Will prove it with sheer mellowness and fragrant satisfaction the very first draw you take!

BRAINSTORM? WHY?

If your brain is smudged with poisons in the system, due to intestinal stasis (constipation) you may be subject to rash, irritable mood. You may be peevish, cross and unpleasant company. Don't go round with a "grouch"—rid the system, correct the constipated bowels, the sour, gassy stomach, the sick headache and then be free from grouch or brainstorms. You'll live longer; you'll be happier; you'll work and play better.

Take Blackburn's Casca-Royal Pills for a pleasant, prompt, thorough cleaning of the intestinal tract. Take them to wake up the lazy liver, the sluggish 32 feet of intestines. Get the relief of a bowel-nerve tonic, and, see how different this sweet, little pills acts—no nausea, no griping, just a smooth abundant movement. Halitosis, upset stomach, sick headache and other misery leaves quickly. Energy, pep, high spirits and good nature replace such ills.

BRINGING UP FATHER

By GEORGE McMANUS

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

The Rovin' Ritzies
By Flo Frederick

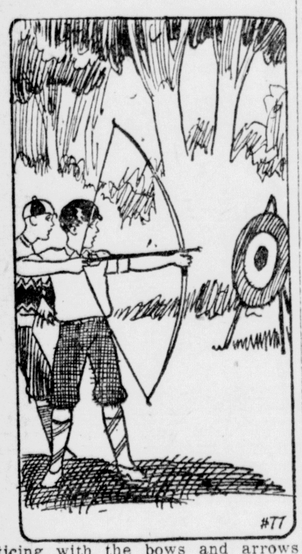

Bill again wins Ritzie fame By winning in the archery game.

"If you'll let us use your target, you can use our Indian bows and arrows."

That was the bargain that Rag and Tag made with the Nelson boys.

So it was that a big archery contest was staged for 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Nelson back yard.

Patsy and Betty had been practicing with the bows and arrows every afternoon so that they would be good enough to enter the contest with the boys.

Marty had put up a score board and everything was in readiness.

It had been decided that an arrow hitting the bull's eye should count as ten, the first white ring, six, the first red ring, four, the next white one, two, and the last red ring, one.

Each contestant was to shoot ten arrows in all but to take turns. Each round in which the player had shot one arrow, the one nearest the center of the bull's eye, was to receive five additional points.

To decide the order in which they were to shoot, each of the players shot one arrow, and then took his turn according to his position on the target.

Patsy was the only one who hit the bull's eye on the first round and she was so excited over it that she didn't even hit the target when it came her turn again.

It was great fun because one knew as much about the game as the next one. It wasn't like in marbles on which some of the boys were so much better than others. This was a new game to all of them and they suffered good and bad luck alike.

As Tag said, "If you hit the bull's eye one time, you're sure to miss altogether the next." That was all except Bill.

He had started out the poorest of all but on each successive turn he had come nearer and nearer to the bull's eye and his arrows were flying straighter every time.

"It's because he's got on an Indian suit," claimed one of the boys.

"No, he's just a born champion," argued another of the gang, who hadn't forgotten Bill's triumphant winning of the Ritzie marble tournament.

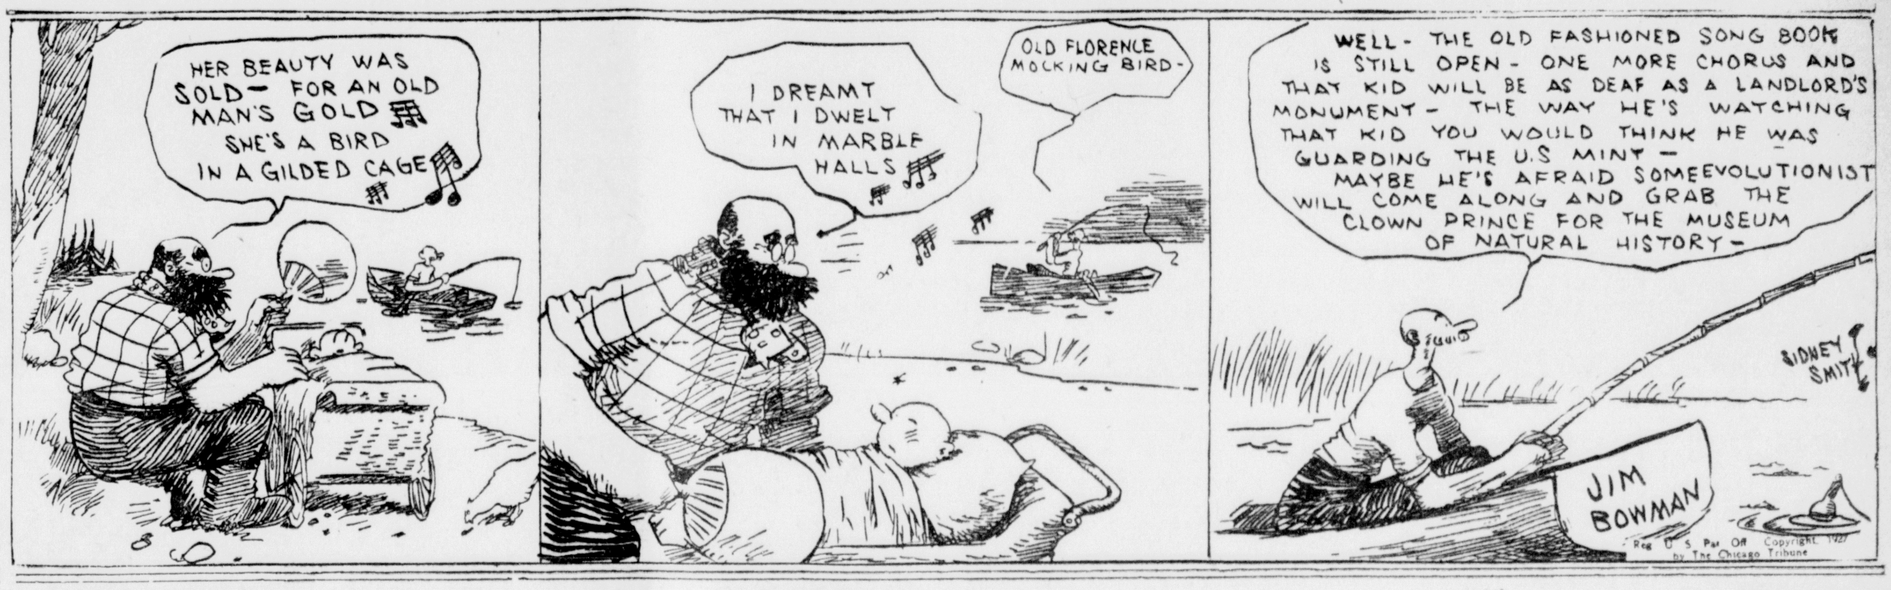

Whether it was the Indian suit or just his natural luck that did the trick, Bill came out three points ahead and so the Ritzies were proud once more of their newest member.

Everyone had such a good time that afternoon that they passed the word along and soon all the girls and boys in Mayville were holding archery contests.

The Ritzies hope that all the girls and boys who are reading their stories every day will give their bows and arrows a try this summer.

Sally's Shoulders

"Sally—Sally—Get home here's fast as you can!" she heard her gasp.

READ THIS FIRST:

SALLY JEROME, pretty and clever, is the prop and mainstay of her family in the absence of her father, who has not lived with her mother for nine years. The family consists of MRS. JEROME, the twins, BEAU and MILLIE, and Sally, herself. Mrs. Jerome enjoys poor health, so Sally does the housework mornings and office work for grouchy MR. PEEVEY, down town, afternoons.

In the flat below the Jeromes' flat lives TED SLOAN, an automobile salesman, who wants Sally to marry him and keep on working. But the only man who interests her is JOHN NYE, whose real estate office is just across the hall from Mr. Peevey's. Nye hires Millie as his secretary and becomes blindly infatuated, buying her expensive gifts and lending her his car, etc. But Millie confesses to Sally that, although she intends to try to marry Nye because of his money, she is much more in love with a man named DAVIDSON. She had known Davidson when she worked at Bursall's, where he was a bond salesman.

Beau and Millie give very little towards the upkeep of the flat. They even borrow from Mrs. Jerome when one of her husband's checks arrive. Sally has a hard time keeping house, and occasionally has to borrow from her aunt, EMILY JEROME, who is giving up school teaching to turn her old home into a wayside inn. Aunt Emily wants Sally to go into business with her, but Sally is afraid to give up her $21 a week with Mr. Peevey to take a chance elsewhere.

Beau gets $110 from Ted Sloan by means of two bad checks. When Ted threatens to turn him over to the police, Sally borrows the money to pay him from Mr. Peevey. But when she gives it to Beau, he uses it to elope with his fiancee, MABEL WILMOT. Sally starts paying off both Ted and Mr. Peevey at the rate of $2 a week. Beau and Mabel borrow from her, too, and she is at her wits' ends when Millie is taken sick and has to have a doctor, which means more money. Mrs. Jerome has turned over her last check to Beau and Millie for a wedding present, and Sally is almost without a dollar. One afternoon while Millie is sick at home, and John Nye is out of town, Sally sees Davidson at Nye's office door, asking for Millie. She goes out to speak to him.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER XXIX

"DID you want to see Millie?" asked Sally, walking straight up to Davidson and shaking hands with him in her brisk, business-like way.

"Yes—but I'd rather see you," Davidson answered, holding her hand in both of his. "Do you work up here?" His cold, gray eyes lifted and looked beyond her into Mr. Peevey's funny, old-fashioned office, with its electric stove, its roll-top desk and red calico chair cushions.

Sally nodded and drew her hand away from his. Her face flushed, but her eyes met his straight and full. Sally's eyes had no flirtatious, side-long glances. Set bewitchingly wide apart and fringed with long, silky lashes, they had the frankness of a child's eyes.

"Millie's at home today. She was awfully sick last night," she said. "And Mr. Nye's out of town. I'll tell Millie you were here. Good-bye."

She was turning to go back to Mr. Peevey's office when a sudden thought struck her and she came back to where Davidson stood watching her.

"Millie said something to me last night about your coming to work for Mr. Nye," she said. "Do you mind my asking if that was what you came for?"

It was a daring question, but Davidson answered it with a jerk of his head.

"The bond business hasn't been so good lately, and I thought I'd try selling lots instead," he said shortly, with a smile that did not light up his gray eyes. "How would you like to meet me after work today, and we'll go and buy Millie some roses?"

Sally shook her head at him and laughed. I imagine you can buy roses without any of my help," she smiled. "You look as if you'd bought plenty of them in your time. Besides, I've got to hurry home today."

That night when she got home Millie was sitting up in bed eating chocolate ice cream in a big bowl. Beside her sat Mrs. Jerome with another bowl of it in her lap.

"Ice cream!" exclaimed Sally, coming to a stop in the doorway. "Did the doctor say Millie could have ice cream?" It seemed to her that chocolate ice cream was a pretty heavy diet for an invalid.

Mrs. Jerome looked guilty. "Well, he said she could have liquid food," she said. "And ice cream is liquid—after it's melted. We were so hot, and we just telephoned the drug store man to send a quart of it up to us. Millie says she's just burning up."

Sally saw at a glance that Millie was feverish. Her eyes had a hard glitter and her cheeks were flushed to the temples.

"You give me that stuff!" cried Sally, and leaning across the bed she took the bowl out of her sister's small, clutching hands. "Mother, you know that she shouldn't have a thing but clear soup or milk. . . . That's what the doctor meant by a liquid diet."

"Well, there wasn't any milk in the house, or any soup either," replied her mother with a pathetic quiver in her voice. "I suppose I could have gone traipsing out in the heat for some—but the drug store is so nice about delivering things, and I thought the ice cream wouldn't hurt Millie a bit—"

The sound of her voice followed Sally out to the kitchen, where she threw the remaining ice cream into the sink and turned a stream of hot water upon it.

She opened the ice box to see what there was for supper. A bowl of cold mashed potatoes stood there. An uncooked sirloin steak was wrapped in waxed paper on the top shelf, and there was a big dish of salad greens beside it.

"We'll have potato balls and salad and tea for supper—that will be plenty for Mother and me," Sally said to herself. "Millie doesn't need anything tonight. And in the morning I'll use half of that steak to make her a bowl of soup. The other half can be broiled for tomorrow night's supper."

She knew that it was going to take a good deal of careful planning and figuring to get through the week with the tiny sum of money that lay folded tight in the bottom of her purse. . . . Seven dollars. Not quite seven dollars.

She went back to Millie's room, where Mrs. Jerome was finishing her ice cream in an aggrieved silence. She sniffed and looked out of the window when Sally came and stood beside Millie's bed.

"Dear," said Sally, quietly, "I hate to talk to you about money just now—but I had to give the doctor five dollars last night, and I wonder if you have any money left from your salary."

Millie raised her eyebrows. "I suppose it will all go on doctor bills," she grumbled. "And it was just nonsense to call Ambleside for me. I didn't need him at all."

She shot a look of fury at her mother. "Why don't you go and call Beau and Mabel up and ask them to give you back part of that two hundred?" she drawled, her blue eyes smouldering. "Then you could pay the doctor without calling on me for the little bit of money I've got—"

"I've tried to get them all day," quavered Mrs. Jerome, half rising from her chair. "But Beau wasn't at the bank and Mabel wasn't at Bursall's. I don't know where they can be."

"Probably out spending the money!" Millie came back at her indignantly. "Why don't you try to get them at their boarding house?"

As she spoke there came a loud drumming on the front door.

The three women looked at one another. . . . That was Beau's knock!

"Talk about the angels and they're sure to appear," quoted Mrs. Jerome. "There are Beau and Mabel now." She turned to go to let them in.

"You get some of that money from them! Do you hear?" Millie shouted as she vanished.

"Hush!" Sally said pleadingly. "Don't get yourself excited, dear. Do lie down and take things easy. You look so hot, Millie. Don't you think I ought to have the doctor again?"

In the living room Beau and Mabel and Mrs. Jerome were all crowded at the front window looking down into the street.

Mabel turned at the sound of Sally's step on the carpet and seized her by her arms, dancing her around the room. "We've bought a car!" she squealed. "A car!—A roadster! Take a look—see!—Beau and Mabel have got a car of their own at last!"

She seemed to be beside herself with joy as she pranced around the cozy little room, waving her arms and kicking out with her slim silk-clad legs.

Mrs. Jerome looked at her with great disfavor. "I don't see what you're yelling about!" she said grimly. "It strikes me as a great piece of tom-foolishness! To buy a car when you don't own a single stick of furniture, and haven't a nickel laid away in the bank for a rainy day!"

She went out to her own room and banged the door shut behind her.

Sally, herself, could have wept as she looked at the gaudy little second-hand roadster that stood out in the street. Even through the twilight its bright red paint glowed like a bonfire, and its hood was decorated by a shiny brass figure of a bathing girl. It was exactly the kind of car that she would have expected Mabel to pick out.

"Beau," she couldn't help saying, "you might have paid some of your debts first."

She thought of the load of them he had laid on her own shoulders, and that she was doing her level best to pay off within a year.

But if the thought of them weighed down her spirits it did not seem to worry Beau at all. Not a shadow crossed his blond face or settled in his eyes.

"Got anything to eat?" he asked blithely. "We've been riding around all afternoon and we're as empty as can be."

"We've got hollow legs, we're so hungry!" warbled Mabel, following him to the kitchen where they soon made short work of the steak that Sally had been saving for the next day.

"We've rented a flat," Beau said, between great mouthsful of it. We're going to move in tomorrow. It's furnished."

"It's as cute as a crow's nest," added Mabel. "Everything built in. In-a-door beds, and breakfast nook, and everything! I'm just as batty about it as a bat!"

They were having a fine time with Mrs. Jerome's check. That was plain enough.

The next morning when Sally left the house at 10 minutes after 11, Millie was still asleep.

Sally had looked in once or twice during the morning, and each time Millie had been lying in the same position, her face flushed, her breath coming regularly but quickly.

"She's just fine," Mrs. Jerome had decided. "Sleep's what she needs. She's hardly ever in bed before 1 or 2 o'clock, you know—and it's my guess that she's just worn out."

So Sally had not been worried when she started out into the bluest, brightest, windiest October day that ever was.

The office was empty when she arrived, and the morning mail was scattered on the floor by the door where the postman had slipped it.

Sally took off her hat, smoothed back her hair with her fine, sensitive hands, and began to open the envelopes.

The telephone rang shrilly.

"That's Mr. Peevey, to see if I'm here on time," thought Sally and she smiled to herself as she lifted the receiver.

But the smile vanished instantly.

For it was her mother's voice at the other end of the wire.

"Sally—Sally—get home here as fast as you can," it gasped. "Millie—get here, Sally!"

Then there was a click and silence.

HARD TO SUIT

ASTORIA, N. Y.—Nathan Hollander, an unfortunate tailor, lost a legal suit and a cloth suit in one and the same day.

Hollander started action against John Flanigan, of No. 276 Seventh avenue, Astoria, for $22.50 for a suit for which he asserted Flanigan had never paid him. The case was before Justice Hetherington.

Flanigan had the suit in court with him and donned it in a side room, explaining that he would not wear it on the street. When he entered the courtroom, a roar of laughter greeted him. The suit, contrary to all the laws of tailoring for men's clothing, bore the buttons on the left side of the coat, vest and trousers. It was tight in the seat and full in the front.

Hollander offered to transfer the buttons and buttonholes to opposite sides of the garments if he were paid for the suit, but Justice Hetherington would not hear of it. He dismissed Hollander's complaint, awarding a judgment of $25 to Flanigan. Flanigan also kept the suit.

NEW DEFENSE FOR DOOMED MEN

ATTORNEY ADDED TO COUNSEL IN SACCO-VANZETTI DEFENSE

Demonstrations Feared Result Of Failure Of Death Appeal

BOSTON, Aug. 5.—Arthur D. Hill, a "last ditch" fighter at the bar and in politics and a decorated lieutenant colonel at the close of the world war, today took command of the eleventh-hour legal efforts to save Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti from the electric chair.

The former Bull Mooser, who, as district attorney, gave battle in the courts to the Boston blackmail gangs which were ultimately driven from the city, had several legal avenues open.

First, was an appeal to the state courts for a new trial, presumably on newly discovered evidence, resulting from the review by Governor Alvan T. Fuller; second, a writ of habeas corpus; third, an appeal for a stay of execution from the United States Supreme Court, to be made to either Justice Holmes at Beverly, Justice Stone at Isle Haut, Maine, or Justice Brandies at Chatham.

It was learned unofficially that the state court appeals will be made first and if the applications are denied, Hill will carry his legal battle to the highest tribunal, a writ of cerioari already being drawn up.

The so-called "old guard" of the Sacco-Vanzetti defense has refused to give up the fight for the prisoners and it was understood that it was largely through its efforts that the services of Hill were re-enlisted in the celebrated case. The former district attorney is familiar with the Sacco-Vanzetti case, having presented several motions for a new trial several years ago.

Hill took command following the retirement of Attorney William G. Thompson and his associate, Herbert B. Ehrmann. Thompson stated that his appeal to the governor would be his last appeal. Ehrman stated that he had little hope in another appeal to the state courts or to the United States Supreme Court.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Reinforcements of police and plain clothes detectives were on duty in the Wall Street district today to protect banks and the United States subtreasury building from violence at the hands of enraged sympathizers of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti.

Five thousand men and women members of the Workers-Communist party held a mass meeting in Union Square last night and decided to issue an appeal today to all workers in the United States to join in a general strike of twelve hours on Tuesday as a protest against the decision of Governor Alvan T. Fuller, of Massachusetts, that Sacco and Vanzetti must die.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Great demonstrations before the American embassy "to protest against the judicial murder of Sacco and Vanzetti and to demand the reversal of Governor Fuller's decision" are planned here for Sunday.

British protests are being arranged by the international class for war prisoners' aid, and it is announced that the appeals have the support of George Bernard Shaw, H. G. Wells, Lieutenant Commander Kenworthy, M. P., George Lansbury, M. P., James Maxton, M. P., Oswald Mosely, M. P., and John Wheatley, M. P.

PARIS, Aug. 5.—A number of French newspapers, especially those with communist and socialistic tendencies, commented bitterly today upon the decision of Governor Alvan T. Fuller, of Massachusetts, that Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti must die for the Braintree, Mass., payroll murders.

CIGAR MAKERS ARE BACK AFTER STRIKE

TAMPA, Fla., Aug. 5.—Approximately 15,000 cigar factory workers returned to work here this morning after walking out on a general strike yeserday in protest against Governor Fuller's refusal to grand executive clemency to Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti.

After a mass meeting at the Tampa labor temple at which over 6,000 were present, a resolution setting aside the day of execution as a day of mourning was drafted. Every cigar worker was ordered to don black and to hang crepe in the doorways of their homes on the day of execution. Tampa cigar factories will remain closed at that time.

BLIGHTED ROMANCE OF STUDIOS ENDS; WOMAN SHOOTS MOVIE PRODUCER AND THEN KILLS SELF

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 5.—A blighted romance of the studios ended in a double tragedy here today when Betty Montague, 28, film retoucher, shot and killed Hamilton W. Mannon, 32, motion picture producer, and then ended her own life with the same revolver.

Both were found slumped over in the front seat of an expensive automobile early today. Mannon was dead, his head resting on the girl's lap, when police arrived. The young woman died a few hours later at the emergency hospital.

A small calibre pistol was lying on the floor of the car, just out of reach of the girl's dangling arm. The woman was clad in a house dress, her foot was pressed firmly on the self starter. The grinding noise of the starter motor first attracted passersby, who called police.

Mannon was vice president of the Tec-Art studios here and one of the best known of picture executives.

His business associate, Albert S. D'Agostino, told police that Mannon and Miss Montague had been going together eighteen months.

Mannon recently rejected the girl, his partner declared, and she had been calling him on the telephone at all hours of the day. Mannon, however, has refused to discuss the affair with his partner.

Intimation that jealousy may have been the motive for the shooting was contained in a letter sent to Mannon from New York by a woman whom police are endeavoring to discover as the film man's wife or former sweetheart.

The letter, dated January 2, was signed "Min" and read:

"Ha[illegible] dear. The nearest thing to seeing you, I admit, is a photograph. How do you like the new life? I hope you haven't forgotten entirely. If you are foolish enough to marry please tell the little lady of my existence, for some day I may decide to see you and she would have to know about me anyhow. I might pass as an aunt."

NAVAL LIMITATION REMOTE IN BELIEF OF BRITISH PRESS

Feel Geneva Failure Settles Question For Some Time

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Lamenting the failure of the Geneva naval disarmament conference, the British press takes the attitude that the conference has at least demonstrated that further naval limitation is not an easy matter and may be considered as remote.

In semi-official circles the opinion is generally expressed that the Geneva breakdown has demonstrated that the world is hardly ripe for disarmament and that any conferences of a similar nature in the near future, no matter under what auspices, may meet the same fate.

British spokesmen feel, however that there is no need for recrimination between the United States and England because as the Daily Express states "The formula doesn't exist and couldn't be comprised which would reconcile Anglo-America parity at sea." The Express asks what will happen now and answers, "Nothing—Great Brittain, the United States and Japan will supply themselves with that amount of seapower, and no more, which circumstances necessitate."

The Manchester Guardian believes that naval armaments are more likely to be increased as the result of the conference failure and say that it is difficult to imagine a debate on important questions being conducted under less favorable circumstances than those prevailing during the recent conference. "It has been petti-fogging in spirit" says the Guardian. "It has been involved in argument and totally lacking in grasp of the general principles which govern relations between Great Britain and the United States.

The Morning Post hopes that no one will be "unduly depressed by the failure of the conference."

The Chronicle expresses the view that the breakdown be-clouds future disarmament conferences.

KENTUCKY SELECTS TWO CANDIDATES AT PRIMARY SATURDAY

Race Track Betting Principal Issue Before Voters

LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 5.—Kentucky voters will go to the polls tomorrow to express their opinion on the Pari-Mutue l race track betting law, after the most heated gubernatorial primary campaign in the history of the state.

The Democrats will choose between J. C. W. Beckham, of Paducah, father of the Pari-Mutuels and the racing commission in Kentucky, who is now against race track betting, and Robert T. Crowe, of La Grange, who favors retention of the Pari-Mutuels.

The Republicans will choose between Judge Flem D. Sampson, of Barboursville, advocate of the Pari-Mutuel betting machines, and Robert H. Lucas, whose campaign has been sponsored by the anti-race track gambling element of the state.

For the most part, the campaigns of the four candidates have centered around this paramount issue. The leading newspapers of the state have taken sides, and as the primary draws near, opinion is sharply divided, with all candidates entering confident claims of victory. Beckham's campaign manager claims he will win easily by a 50,000 majority, while Sampson is generally believed to have an advantage in the Republican primary.

Repeal of the Pari-Mutuel law would probably sound the death knell of racing in Kentucky, and veteran racing men, who declare that millions of dollars are brought to the state each year through the sale of thoroughbreds, and thousands of dollars to the state treasury from the track taxes, are exceedingly apprehensive of the outcome of the situation.

COLUMBIA TESTED BY FRENCH PILOT

LE BOURGET, France, Aug 5.—Marcel Drouhin took the Bellanca plane "Columbia" up for a one-ton load test today, remaining aloft ten minutes. Final load test, with a ton and a half aboard, will be made this afternoon.

Lieutenant Givon also took the Farman "Bluebird," which he hopes to fly across the Atlantic, up for final tests with a full load. Givon will take his plane to Toussus Le Noble for a final overhauling and hopes to be ready for a hop-off on Tuesday or Wednesday.

DISAPPOINTED DELEGATES TO GENEVA PREPARE FOR RETURN

Discussion Lacking As Conference Becomes Memory —Gibson Bids Farewell To British Delegates.

GENEVA, Aug. 5.—The ashes of the tri-partite naval disarmament conference were exceedingly cold today. There was no aftermath of discussion. There was merely a group of tired and disappointed delegates preparing for departure.

Hugh Gibson, chief American delegate, paid a formal farewell call on those members of the British delegation who remained here. Gibson will himself take a few days rest.

The delegates were unanimous in declaring that, while the Anglo-American deadlock on cruiser strength and gun powder had wrecked the meeting, all parted in a spirit of good will.

Speeches delivered by the American, British and Japanese delegates in the final plenary session at the Hotel Des Bergues were surprisingly moderate in tone. The anticipated "fireworks" failed to develop. Following the meeting there was considerable private discussion as to whether another effort would be made by President Coolidge at the end of the year to bring about a new parley. Gibson, American delegate, refused to discuss such a possibility.

It is understood, however, that President Coolidge may issue invitations to a conference in Washington before the end of his term in office. In that event the same powers who were asked to participate in the present meeting would be invited; namely, England, Japan, France and Italy.

TRAINMEN HURT IN "SPEEDER" WRECK

NEW LEXINGTON, O., Aug. 5.—Three men are recovering today from injuries sustained late Thursday when a motor car on the New York Central railroad climbed a switchpoint at Sayre, near here, and upset, pinning them beneath. W. F. Bollman, general freight agent of the Baltimore and Ohio road at Newark sustained an amputated right leg. C. E. Rossell, division engineer, and Carl Mosure, traveling freight agent, of the same road, sustained minor injuries.

RIOTS KILL 13

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Thirteen persons have been killed and eighty injured in serious religious rioting in Champaran, according to a Calcutta dispatch to the Central News.

POLITICIANS FEEL CONVENTION MAY BE REPETITION OF 1920

Think Favorites May Kill Each Other Off At Meeting

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—The practical politicians of the capital, trying to peer through the haze of the next ten months, are already beginning to vision the Republican convention of 1928 as generally similar to the historic 1920 convention.

Whether history will repeat itself as to details and see the favorite out-distanced and a dark horse nominated, as was the case in 1920, can only be conjectured, but they point out that the pre-convention situation is much the same.

The three strong men of 1920 were Lowden, Wood and Johnson. Ultimately they killed each other off and Warren G. Harding was nominated.

The three strong men of 1928 now appear to be Lowden, Hoover and Dawes, with Charles Evans Hughes constituting a possible fourth. In that situation, the political railbirds of the capital see the possibility of another deadlock, and the convention having ultimately to choose another—possibly "drafting" Calvin Coolidge, or permitting the lightning to strike one of the dark horses already beginning to appear in the pasture, "Nick" Longworth, ofr example, or ex-senator "Jim" Wadsworth of New York.

This interesting possibility is, of course, predicted upon the theory that President Coolidge will "choose" not to exert pressure upon the convention in behalf of any candidate, but leave the convention delegates free to fight it out among themselves. If President Coolidge does not "choose" to keep hands off, but should throw the admittedly enormous prestige of the White House behind Herbert Hoover or Charles Evans Hughes, for instance, it would change the complexion of the convention in a twinkling. The practical politicians of the capital are bearing constantly in mind the persistent rumors that Hoover is the residuary legatee of the Coolidge strength, and they are well aware of the high esteem in which Mr. Coolidge has always held his erstwhile secretary of state.

There is, however, still another aspect of the situation that the practical politicians are not overlooking. That is the strong personal friendship between two of the possible "big three," Vice-President Dawes and ex- Gov. Frank O. Lowden. Fellow Illinoisans and intimates of long standing ,they see eye to eye on many political problems of the day, notably on the farm problem. Both are on the "outs" with Mr. Coolidge. The speculative politicians of the capital doubt that Dawes and Lowden would carry their personal quests for the nomination to sufficient length to kill each other off.

"SPECS" RUSSELL IS CAPTURED AT LAST

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 5.— Joe Russell, otherwise "The Smoked Glasses Kid" otherwise "Specs," Cleveland's will-o-the-wisp bandit today was under lock and key.

After staging a score of hold-ups making two miraculous escapes, and eluding police for more than two months, Russell last night was overpowered and captured, without a chance to draw his pistol in an east side rooming house.

Questioned by detectives, the boyish "Specs" declared he did not know his age exactly, but thought he was 19. He also talked freely concerning his movements of the last month.

His most spectacular escape occurred July 9, when, after being arrested, the youth dragged a detective from a police car and fled with a handcuff hanging from one wrist.

THREATEN TO BLOW UP U. S. CONSULATE

NICE France, Aug. 5.—United States Consul Otis Slazebrook has received two letters threatening to blow up the building which houses the United States consulate.

Residents of the building have moved out of their apartments despite the fact that a police guard has been established.

A futile attempt to bomb the consulate building was made two weeks ago.

FAIR CROWD LARGEST SINCE 1922; 22,000 ON THURSDAY

It is estimated by fair board officials that approximately 22,000 people attended the Greene County Fair Thursday, which is the largest single day's attendance since 1922.

Thursday, always the big day of the annual exposition, fulfilled all requirements so far as the weather was concerned, for the day was perfect. Fair-goers took advantage of this and the fairgrounds were crowded the entire day.

Fair skies again greeted the exposition Friday and the attendance was again expected to be large.

The principal incident Friday was the scheduled livestock parade on the race track at 12 noon, in which the Boy's and Girls' clubs, future exhibitors of the fair, were on display. Other organizations were to have floats and prizes were to be awarded for beef and dairy breeds.

FLYERS IN JUNKERS PLANE REMAIN ALOFT MORE THAN 52 HOURS

Flight Breaks Record Set By Chamberlin And Acosta—Germans Exult When Pilots Land—Plane Will Try Atlantic

DESSAU, Germany, Aug. 5.—Smashing the world record for endurance flights, previously held by Clarence Chamberlin and Bert Acosta, the two German flyers, Johann Risticz and Cornelius Ezerard, came to earth here at the end of fifty-two hours and twenty-two minutes of continuous flight, and their first act on landing was to lock arms and drink a toast to each other—in buillon.

The two aviators covered approximately 6,788 kilometers or some 500 kilometers farther than the distance between Dessau and New York. Had the men been flying in a straight line they might have flown from Dessau to Pittsburgh.

The flight was hailed with great glee all over Germany as it was a preliminary test for a flight across the Atlantic in the same Junkers plane, Europa, which the two flyers used to break the record.

The track record of 4,400 kilometers held by the Frenchmen Droughin and Landry was also broken.

Crowds Happy

When the flyers landed the crowds sang "Deutschland Uber Alles," and then there were "hochs" for the flyers and for Professor Junkers.

"The deed is German. . . . The fame belongs to the nation not to us—Thank God Germany still has brave men," said Professor Junkers as he congratulated the flyers.

The Junkers plane Bremen, which set out shortly before the Europa Wednesday morning in an effort to break the world's duration record along with its companion machine, had to quit on account of engine trouble. The Bremen will be started on a trans-Atlantic flight to New York when the Europa hops off.

Almost all the population of Dessau was at the flying field and broke out in a chorus of unroarious "hochs" when news was flashed that the record had been broken. People embraced each other and some of the more exuberant leaped into the air shouting.

Mrs. Ezerard, who had been up all night, cried for joy.

Weather Ideal

The weather was fine for flying. The sky was blue and almost cloudless and the sun was shining bright.

The fuel tank was dry when the machine landed and the propeller stopped whirring the moment the plane touched the ground. Risticz and Ezerard were both fresh and declared they were not tired after their long sky voyage, although it got pretty monotonous. They showed few traces of the strain.

The Junkers works, where the planes were built, declared a holiday for the 3,000 workers. These workers swarmed out upon the field shouting and singing.

Director Gotthard Sachsenberg, of the Junkers works, after looking over the record winning plane, said:

"If the cylinders of the motors of the Europa had been adjusted to the same compression point as the cylinders of the Bremen the Europa would have been able to fly another five hours. For transmission on the trans-Atlantic flight the compression ratio of the motors of both machines will be one to six. That of the Europa on this flight was one to seven giving the engine an extra fifteen horsepower but consuming 10 per cent more gasoline."

JUNKERS PLEASED

Upon receipt of news that the Europa was still in the air at 5 o'clock this morning Prof. Junkers head of the Junkers works, who was spending a vacation at Warnemunde, on the Baltic, boarded a special plane and started for Dessau. He arrived here just about the time the Europa was landing and joined his family at the flying field.

All the directors of the Junkers works and about fifty newspaper correspondents and photographers were at the field.

Shortly after daybreak when word was flashed over the country side that the Europa was still aloft and going strongly people began flocking to the flying field. They arrived in all sorts of vehicles and thousands tramped it on foot.

FLOWERS FOR ACES

The Burgomaster of Dessau arrived at the field in a motor car filled with flowers for the airmen. There were six large bouquets from municipal organizations that filled the machine.

Edzard's first request upon landing was for a cigarette which he smoked greedily.

The plane did not carry all the gasoline load of which it is capable.

The engine was reported to be in perfect condition.

ENGLISHMAN NEARS GOAL OF SWIMMING ENGLISH CHANNEL

Swimmer Reported Mile And One-Half From Dover

DOVER, Eng., Aug. 5.—At 2 o'clock this afternoon, E. H. Timme, an Englishman who is attempting to swim the English channel, was reported one and one-half miles off the Dover Admiralty pier.

Timme started from the French coast at 12:42 a. m.

DOVER, Eng., Aug. 5. — E. H. Timme, English swimmer who is making an attempt to swim the English channel, was reported still swimming strongly at 10:30 today, nine hours after he made his start.

CAPE GRIZ NEZ, France, Aug. 5.—E. H. Timme, of London, one of the twenty swimmers who have been training on the French coast for an attempt to swim the English channel, started at 1 o'clock to try to swim across to England. He was convoyed by the tug Alba. In three hours Timme had covered five miles. He was swimming strongly in the direction of Dover. The water was calm and the weather foggy.

LINDBERGH LANDS IN DAYTON EARLY

DAYTON, O., Aug. 5.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh still has the impatience of youth, it was demonstrated here today, when he landed at old McCook Field at 1 o'clock, an hour before his scheduled arrival. After his arrival at the wartime aviation center, he was informed that he was to have arrived at 2 o'clock and immediately thereafter "we" soared into the air and made for Wilbur Wright Field, Fairfield.

Upon alighting at 2 o'clock, Lindbergh, with Brig. Gen. W. E. Gilmore, commandant at Wilbur Wright Field, went to Woodland Cemetery, where he placed a wreath on the grave of Wilbur Wright, who, twenty-four years ago, mastered the air with his brother, Orville Wright.

Tonight, Lindbergh and Orville Wright will be guests of honor at dinner at the National Cash Register Co. dining hall when 1,200 guests will be seated with him. Lindbergh will be the chief speaker at the banquet.

BOXING PROMOTER IS HELD FOR RANSOM

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—James C. "Jim" Mullen, leading Chicago boxing promoter, has been kidnaped and is being held for ransom.

This was the word flashed in police circles here today following the mysterious disappearance of Mullen after the Loayza-Herman bout here Tuesday.

He is believed to be the victim of the same gang which was reported to have kidnaped and demanded ransom for the return of Jack Adler and Clarence Lazarns.

Adler is a wealthy cabaret owner and Lazarus proprietor of alleged gambling places.

LINDBERGH READY TO FLY TO DAYTON

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Aug. 5.—Mechanics at Langin landing field today were tuning the Spirit of St. Louis, preparatory to the hop off of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, about noon for Dayton, Ohio.

The visit of the trans-Atlantic solo flyer will be his second to the home town of Orville Wright, aviation pioneer, but will afford residents of the air city, their first opportunity of greeting the young hero

BELLBROOK

Morris Finley, of Dayton, was a Bellbrook visitor Sunday.

The Bobtown reunion will be held at the old Bobtown schoolhouse on the third Saturday in August.

Two automobiles, one bearing Pennsylvania and the other Illinois licenses, passed through town this week.

Shirley and Mary Wetzel of Trotwood, are visiting their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wetzel.

Harry Watson and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Harry McGinnis at their home in Waynesville a few hours Tuesday evening.

Lee Frank who conducted a blacksmith shop here forty-three years ago, was a visitor in the village for a short time last Monday.

Mrs. Rose Watson and daughter, Henrietta and Miss Sowers, of Fairfield, visited Oliver Watson and Nellie Soward a few hours Tuesday.

It is freely rumored that moonshine is being made and sold in several sections of the township.

Township Clerk W. W. Tate has moved into his new home.

The old wilderness battle ground at Waynesville was once more the scene of a terrific conflict when the Bellbrook organization made its advent into the Triangle League on last Sunday and proceeded to scalp the "Top Notchers" in no unmistakable terms. The fact that "Babe" Adams of Sabina, a former league pitcher was on the mound for the "leaders," made it more than probable in the minds of the home bunch that their aggregation would run away with the entire works and retire the visitors to everlasting oblivion. The "Babe" however, proved a sore disappointment to the ones who expected to see Bellbrook hurled back into the reprehensible scrap-pile of obscurity, and was freely slugged by the visitors, whose left-handed batters got nine out of the fifteen hits recorded. The war-scarred farm house came in for more than its share and was left with fewer windows and less weatherboarding than on all former occasions. McMichaels in the pink of condition, stretched his muscular six-foot frame to full height and allowed but one or two hits. A remarkable feature of the game was the phenomenal play of Spahr who caught a foul ball behind the backstop after he had slipped and was falling—clamping the ball as he went down. A heart rendering and uncalled for occurrence took place when a desperate base runner "did unlawfully, willfully and maliciously" remove Goal John's two hundred and fifty pounds from its moorings and gently lay it down on the cool grass near first base. The lineup which defeated the league leaders by a score of 5 to 2 were: McMichaels, p, Spahr c, Cramer 1b, Darbyshire 2b, Sackett 3b, Crowl ss, Sidenstricker rf, Gibbons lf, Ingle cf. This game was the first for Bellbrook in the Triangle League, they having taken the place of a Dayton team which formerly was a member of the organization. They will journey to Wilmington next Sunday and play the team at that place.

Pretty Double Wedding Solemnized Saturday

Beautiful in its simplicity was the double wedding ceremony of Miss Anna E. Gerhardt to Mr. Robert J. Brannum, both of Yellow Springs and Miss Gladys Engle, to Mr. Clarence Johnson, both of Dayton, at the home of Miss Gerhardt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Gerhardt, near Yellow Springs, Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Almena Craner played as her first number "Traumerei," Schumann. Mrs. Philip Gerhardt then sang "Until," Sanderson and "All For You," Bertrend Brown. Miss Craner then played "To A Wild Rose," followed by Mrs. Gerhardt singing "I Love You Truly," by Carrie Jacobs-Bond.

As the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march were heard throughout the spacious rooms, Dorothy Jean Gerhardt, dressed in net over pink taffeta, strewed flowers from a dainty basket in the pathway of the two brides, as they descended the stairway.

The bridal party proceeded to the living room where the impressive Lutheran double ring ceremony was performed before a large bank of palms by the Rev. E. A. Kreppert, during which Miss Craner played softly "Love's Old Sweet Song."

The bridal table was lovely in its appointments, with a chosen color scheme of pink and white, which was also carried out in the flowers placed throughout the Gerhardt home. A two-course supper was served the guests, which included only the immediate families and close friends of the bridal couples.

Mr. and Mrs. Brannum and Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left immediately for a motor trip through Indiana and Michigan and have a host of friends who wish them much happiness.

"SHOWER" GIVEN THURSDAY FOR BRIDE.

Honoring Miss Bertha Elnora Sickels, whose marriage to Mr. Russell Johnson will be an event of late summer, Mrs. W. H. Craig entertained with a prettily appointed miscellaneous "shower" Thursday.

Yellow and white snapdragons were used about the rooms, the same color scheme being carried out in all the appointments. Miss Sickels received many beautiful gifts.

Miss Ruth Burns, who will be supervisor of music at Cedarville Normal the coming year, is attending the summer session of Wilmington College.

Miss Alice Rinck, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Shepard, who are in the east on business, were registered at the Grace Dodge Hotel, Washington, D. C., this week.

The Woman's Missionary Society First Reformed Church, will meet at the home of Mrs. W. L. Miller, N. Detroit St., Tuesday at 2:30, instead of on the church lawn as previously announced. The women are asked to come prepared to pay their quarterly dues.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Haler, Anderson, Ind., will arrive Saturday to spend a few days with the Rev. and Mrs. Russell Burkett, Chestnut St.

Mr. J. G. Cowan is leaving Friday night for St. Louis, Mo., to meet his sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert Upp, of Houston, Tex., formerly Miss Ethel Washburn. They will arrive in Xenia Saturday night, where Mrs. Upp will visit some time.

The Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Tilford and two daughters will spend Sunday at Batavia, O., as the guests of former Chief Justice H. L. Nichols.

Louann Marie France, six years old, Springfield, underwent an operation for the removal of her tonsils and adenoids in this city Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. LeSourd, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Fisher are enjoying a motor trip, to continue two or three weeks, through the east.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Faul, W. Second St., are leaving Sunday for Sulphur Lick Springs, to spend a week.

Mr. John E. Munger, Dayton Pike, who was overcome, after overexerting himself at the Fair Thursday afternoon, was improved and able to be about again Friday.

Mrs. Thomas J. Miller, Wilbur Wright Field, was hostess Thursday when she entertained with a bridge-luncheon at her quarters. Mrs. Milo McCune and Mrs. Charles O'Connor will be hostesses next Wednesday when they entertain a group of friends at a bridge luncheon at the post.

Funeral services for Mr. Chas. A. Hopping, 46, who died in Brooklyn, N. Y., Thursday, will be held at the home of his brother, William Hopping, Federal Pike, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with interment in Woodland Cemetery, Xenia.

Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown, Blanchester, O., and Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, Chalmers R. Wilson, Columbus, visited at the offices of the Greene County Auto Club, Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. McKay, W. Church St., spent Thursday in Cincinnati.

Mr. George Poland Urbana, O., is spending a few days in Xenia with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fisher returned home Wednesday from Waterbury Resort, where they spent several days.

Mrs. W. C. Sutton, Waterbury Resort, returned home Friday after spending a few days with Xenia relatives.

Mrs. Arthur Miller, N. King St. attended the bridge-luncheon at the Snowhill Country Club, Wilmington, Tuesday afternoon.

The Kyle-Jackson picnic will be held on the Bryan Farm near Yellow Springs, August 18, it is announced. All relatives and friends of both families are invited to be present.

The Misses Helen Gray, of Dayton, Katherine Herrmann, of Cammonte, and Dorothy Weller, of Spring Valley, attended the double wedding of Miss Gladys Engle Mr. Clarence Johnson, Miss Ann Gerhardt and Mr. Robert Brannum, at the home of Miss Gerhardt, of near Yellow Springs, Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Poland, and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Benson, Johnstown, Pa., are the guests of Xenia relatives and friends for a few days.

Miss Frances McClellan, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon McClellan, Dayton, has returned home after spending a week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. V. McClellan, Pleasant St.

Mr. M. M. Holton, Spring Vellay, is recovering favorably from an operation at St. Frances' Hospital, Columbus. He is the son of Mr. C. M. Holton, Bellbrook, grocer.

Mr. Donald M. Currie, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Currie, W. Church St., who toured Europe with the Ohio Wesleyan University Glee Club, did not return with the glee club, which arrived in the States last Saturday, but remained with Ray Williams and his "Playing Parsons," also from Ohio Wesleyan, for an engagement in France. Mr. Currie is playing the saxophone with the orchestra at a French resort on the West coast. The orchestra will leave for this country September 21.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Ballantine and only son, Springfield, and Mrs. John A. Cooper, this city, have returned from their western trip. They first went to Denver where Mr. Ballantine was delegate to the Optimist Club convention and then to Estes Park, Salt Lake City, the Yellowstone and into the Black Hills where they heard President Coolidge give an address and saw [illegible] frame church where he worships.

Mr. James Grube, Cleveland, formerly of Xenia, was here Friday, coming to Dayton to cover the Lindbergh program for the Christian Science Monitor, for which he is Cleveland correspondent.

TO HONOR WRIGHT

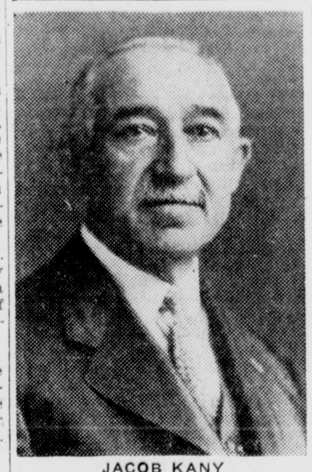

DAYTON, O., Aug. 5.— Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will place a wreath on the grave of the late Wilbur Wright, in Woodland Cemetery, Friday when he visits this city. Request to do this came in a telegram from Lindbergh filed in Cleveland. The tribute will be in recognition of the achievements of the inventor who conquered the air and made the flight to Paris possible. The committee in charge immediately replied to Col. Lindbergh that his wishes in the matter will be respected.

INTRODUCING THE CANDIDATES

Under this heading this newspaper will publish a picture and brief sketch of the career of each of the eight candidates for city commission. Selection of city commissioners is an important responsibility that rests upon all citizens of voting age. There are two to elect this year and four of the eight candidates will be eliminated at the primary August 9. The surviving four will go before the November election. Vote only for TWO candidates at the primary.

JACOB KANY

Jacob Kany, 665 S. Detroit St., candidate for the nomination to city commission at the primary next Tuesday, August 9, is a merchant tailor with his place of business on N. Detroit St.

Mr. Kany came to Xenia from Cincinnati in 1883 and has been in business for himself here thirty-six years, in or near the same location. He is best known for his period of twenty-six years service on the city board of education.

He was a member of the city board of health that reported conditions in the old Court House that resulted in the state board of health condemning the old building and eventually resulted in erection of the new Court House. Mr. Kany was a member of the charter committee that drew up the charter for the commission manager form of government.

He also is prominently identified with the Masons, Elks, Knights of Pythias and Modern Woodmen of America lodges. Mr. and Mrs. Kany live on S. Detroit St.

OFFICER APPEALS CASE; NOTE BASIS OF SUIT; OTHER NEWS

Kenneth C. Barr, county road patrolman, through Attorney C. L. Darlington, has filed a petition in error in Common Pleas Court, in appeal from a recent fine of $15 and costs imposed by Mayor F. W. Ogan, Jamestown, upon a conviction of violating a village traffic ordinance.

Plaintiff in error charges the court erred in overruling a motion for a new trial, that the mayor had no jurisdiction to try the case, and asks for a reversal of the judgment.

NOTE SUIT FILED

Suit for $200, alleged due on a promissory note, and an order to sell mortgaged property in order to apply the proceeds in payment of the note, has been filed in Common Pleas Court by A. M. Bryson against Delbert Sheley and Mary P. Sheley. Marshall and Marshall are attorneys for the plaintiff.

AWARD DAMAGES

In the case of the village of Osborn against George H. Snyder and others in Common Pleas Court, upon confession of judgment by the defendants, the court has decided the plaintiff is entitled to $5,000 from Snyder as liquidated damages for failure to perform his contract as provided in bond filed with the village of Osborn.

HEARING POSTPONED

Because Helen Graham, one of the witnesses to the will of Elizabeth Jeffries, deceased, is absent from the county, and the testimony could not be heard Wednesday, the hearing of an application to probate the will was postponed by the court until August 8 at 9 a. m. in Probate Court.

TWO MAD DOGS ORDERED KILLED AFTR RABIES IS DISCOVERED

Threats of a "mad-dog" scare were stopped Friday by City Health Commissioner A. D. DeHaven and other officials, who ordered two dogs killed after they showed symptoms of hydrophobia. One dog was owned by a family named Palmer on Xenia Ave., and the other by a family named Brown on Whiteman St.

Sheriff Ohmer Tate was ordered by Dr. DeHaven to kill the dogs and their heads will be sent to the state laboratory at Columbus by Dr. W. C. Zell, veternarian, for examination. The dog owned by the Palmers was killed after it showed symptoms of "dumb rabies" after a fight with another dog, Thursday night. The dog's owner separated it from the other dog, and Dr. F. M. Chambliss was treating Mr. Palmer to prevent infection in a scratch on the man's arm. The dog was paralyzed about the jaws after the fight.

The dog owned by Browns did not attack anyone but was reported to authorities when it showed rabies symptoms.

Goldie Freeland, 14, 120 Trumbull St., was bitten on the right hand Thursday night by a dog owned by a neighbor, but it is not thought that the dog was suffering from rabies.

There is no danger of a mad dog epidemic, Dr. DeHaven said Friday. He laid the report of several infected dogs to a temporary hysteria.

The Theatre

Helen Mogge, movie critic, calls attention to the gradual invasion of the moving pictures into nearly every field. "Only a few years ago, there were magazines, and newspapers, too, that simply would not have thought of contributing their valuable space to motion picture discussion," she says. "The films were low-brow entertainment for meager minds."

"In fact, there were people who reluctantly admitted that they have ever attended a motion picture for fear that they might be suspected as being "common." Pictures were supposed to be for kitchen maids and their beaus and people who did not acquire the habit of 'superior thinking.' But things have changed. We observe that liberal space is being devoted to motion picture discussion in magazines that are devoting space to supply informative matter for "high brow" readers only. Of course, some of these magazines still pen their comments on films somewhat begrudgingly, it must be admitted.

"They must first of all consider the high standard of intellectual quality of their readers and not offend them by common and insignificant discussions. Still, they can't leave films out entirely. If things will continue in this direction, motion picture magazines will have to reciprocate and allow some space for style suggestions, for the discussion of deep, entangled thoughts on world problems and a critical review of the world's best literature and music."

Lloyd Hamilton, comedian, has just completed some two-reel comedies to be used in a series. The series is titled, "At Ease," and presents Hamilton in the role of a rookie in an army training camp. His antics, it is said, furnish much laughter.

Flobelle Fairbanks, niece of Douglas Fairbanks, has been cast for the role of "Fluffy," a typical English flapper in "Sorrell & Son," which is now under production.

Constance Talmadge has sailed for Europe with her mother to provide for a new wardrobe in Paris for her next production, "The Last of Mrs. Cheney."

Thelma Todd, a bathing beauty, has been added to the cast "The Shield of Honor." It is a story writeen to glorify the New York police. Neil Hamilton and Ralph Lewis also are featured in important roles.

WOMAN BURGLAR IS CAUGHT IN DAYTON

The first Dayton woman burglar in several years was arrested Thursday by police when Mrs. Anna Pflum, 48, 516 Richard St., was apprehended at her residence. She is the wife of Charles Pflum, real estate man, she says.

Dayton police say the woman confessed to having entered seven residences and stolen goods, found stored in her home. She entered houses both day and night with the aid of a skeleton key.

She is said to have entered the home of J. W. Slack, 222 Parrot St., last Friday night, where she took a quantity of household goods, valued at $75.

Mrs. Pflum was placed in Central police station on charges of burglary and larceny. She is said to be a narcotic addict and has taken treatment at Lima state hospital.

BIBLE THOUGHT

A SURE TESTIMONY:—But Thou, O Lord, art a God full of compassion, and gracious, long suffering, and plenteous in mercy and truth. Psalm 86:15.

REFORMATION BY FORCE

An Indianapolis judge, the other day, "sentenced" a young offender against the law to attend a citizens' military training camp, this summer. It has become quite common for well-intentioned but unthinking judges to "sentence" misdemeanants of small-time criminals to join the Boy Scouts, or to attend church or Sunday school regularly for a given period, or to connect themselves with some other uplifting organization.

Of course there is no legal authority for a judge to do a thing of that kind, and could be none. What the court actually does is to assess the customary jail or reformatory term and then suspend the order on condition that the culprit ally himself with some of the better forces of the community.

Supposing you who read this were the poor duffer thus "sentenced," what do you think the effect would be upon you? Of course you would do as you were told and become a Boy Scout if the Boy Scouts would admit you, which they shouldn't; or you would attend church and Sunday school every Sunday for 26 weeks, but if you have the make-up of the ordinary boy or man you would comply in hardness of spirit, and never after you were released from your agreement would you have further use for the excellent organization to which you were consigned willy-nilly.

Maybe here and there an unlucky culprit actually would be affected favorably by his unaccustomed environment, but more likely the victim would look upon an excellent institution thereafter as something designed for the punishment of offenders against the criminal law.

One may be punished by force, but he cannot be given a good character by force.

Steady Does It, Mates

The Way of the World

SOME NEVER LEARN

Indiana has a large pan of very thick political stew. There have been strange, mysterious, not to say corrupt, political doings in the state for some time. Good Indiana citizens will be either humiliated or indignant. And yet these good citizens, too busy to vote and too indifferent the rest of the time, bring their bad government down on their own heads. And Indiana is not worse than other states. Democracy's biggest problem is to devise some way to get better folks to run for office. Now and then a thoroughly good man does run—and he gets so much hard criticism that he gets out in a hurry.

BARNUM USUALLY FIRST

Hard to keep ahead of Barnum. Fifty-three years ago the great showman proposed a balloon flight to Europe. He offered $50,000 to promote the enterprise, he public is still being entertained and thrilled by the things Barnum thought of first.

PARKING CHILDREN

Americans traveling in Europe often leave their children in schools, homes or hotels in England. The "Come to Britain" movement promotes the idea. Parents pick up the kiddies on the way home. Haven't we problems enough in this complex civilization without having to face the problem of finding parking places for children?

STILL BEING DONE

When James W. Bancker was elected to the board of directors of the Western Electric company in Chicago a few days ago, few people were thrilled by the item in the newspaper. But Jimmy Bancker "broke in" to his present company when he was 15. He got a job as office boy. Soon he got to being assistant to this, that, and the other official. Other office boys, scores of them, dropped out, but Jimmy kept on going. It can be done. It is still being done by those who have two things—ambition and industry.

DON'T BE AFRAID OF YOUR JOB

Few things stand oftener in the way of success than fear that you can't make good. Of course you can make good, unless you are sure you are a moron And if you are a moron you will probably never be sure of it. If you honestly think you can't make good, don't let anybody suspect you think so. By hiding your fears you can usually lose them.

Remember your self-respect. It's self-respect that forces people to make good.

HAVE A LOOK

An old prophet once said that it is fit for a man to know his own abilities and weaknesses. Perhaps many think too much about themselves. It isn't healthy to ponder too much upon your own ups and downs. But it is the part of good sense to take stock of yourself once in awhile. Face your weaknesses as well as your abilities and see what you can do about them.

There is probably too much emotion in the world and too little cold thinking.

SONGS of a HOUSEWIFE

©EFS by Marjorie K. Rawlings

CLOSED DOORS

ALONG the rows of city streets
All the doors are tight,
With locks snapped firmly through the day
And bars on them at night.

The world, unwelcome, passes;
The stranger stops to stare.
The closed doors shut me, lonely, out
I am not wanted there.

I have not meant to frighten folks
As these closed doors chill me;
And I would put this welcome up,
For all to read and see:

"Good kindly friend, be not misled!
My door is barred, it's true.
It's just a timid custom here—
They're never closed to you!"

KELLYGRAMS

by Fred C. Kelly

HAVE WE ENOUGH STUPIDITY?

I often hear people speak slightingly of morons. If a man regards his neighbor as stupid—perhaps because they do not share the same views about religion, politics, or dogs—he asserts that his neighbor is a moron; and he does so in a half-sneering manner.

Now, just what is the matter with morons? Why should one deride or belittle them? Many of my best friends seem to be morons and I find them thoroughly congenial. But apart from that, isn't the greatest need of the world today for more and more morons?

What I'm getting at is that we always have plenty of men and women ready to take the dignified, easy jobs, but where should we be if there were not a suitable supply of folks not too blamed smart, and willing to do the drudgery?

With our modern quantity production and repetitive processes, hasn't skilled labor or intelligence become less and less important?

Since stupid people are so essential to modern business, doesn't it behoove us to look ahead and insure a permanent supply?

Luckily, current demand for the stupid has provided a scale of wages that enables them to marry early and raise large families. But you may ask: Will their children also be stupid enough?

I think they will be, because stupidity tends to marry stupidity, and vice versa; and, presumably, the off-spring will be stupid, too, or stupid enough for all practical purposes.

The problem is complicated, though, by the fact that as morons become more necessary to modern business, they can demand higher wages until they gradually grow prosperous—even wealthy. Then their children, instead of being willing to engage in useful endeavor, go to Harvard, Yale, or elsewhere, and the first thing we know, instead of taking their parents' places as toilers, they appear in fashionable society. They become Prominent Citizens, and Honorary Pallbearers.

Education, it must be remembered, does not make a stupid person any less stupid.

It merely makes him less useful. What is to be done?

The Sons of Veterans' Band which is to play at the Greene County Fair Thursday and Friday, has secured the services of James Thomas, "the man who sings to beat the band."

A vigorous campaign, with meetings for eight consecutive nights, is being conducted by the "drys" at Yellow Springs, preceding the local option election in the village, August 12. Monday night the speaker was Hon. Wayne B. Wheeler.

Mr. Joe Watt and Miss Pearl Zell are in charge of the vegetable and grain hall again this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Scott went to Sulphur Lick Springs on Tuesday where they will spend a week.

My Dear Followers:

When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose TEN cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, NOT OVER 200 WORDS, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED ENVELOPE if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.—Lulu Hunt Peters.

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS

Summer Dont's For Mothers:

"I have just heard from a friend of mine that her doctor cautioned her not to feed raw fruits to her little boy during the summer, with the exception of oranges. I have been allowing mine some cantaloupe which hasn't apparently hurt him. Should young children, two to three years of age, be allowed raw cabbage? Mrs. V."

During the hot summer, it is highly important to see that all food is kept near ice and away from flies, and care be exercised not to over-feed, and to give liberal amounts of cool water.

I suppose the reason the doctor advised against the raw fruit is that there is a possibility of its being over-ripe and too much eaten. But it seems to me that if the fruits are in good condition, the child should have them as usual, because they have the vitamins and mineral elements and a lot of water.

It must be remembered that when it is very hot over a considerable period of time, there may be a depression of all of the functions, and the tolerance for food may be diminished somewhat, and children may suffer from slight nutritional disorders. On account of this depression, more than the usual attention must be paid to keeping the food free from contamination, for infection is more apt to gain a foothold.

During the heat of the day, babies should have all their clothes removed, and frequent sponge baths given.

Yes, raw cabbage, if very finely ground and chewed can be fed to children. It's an Ace High vegetable (vitamins and mineral elements). Babies can also have fresh cabbage JUICE.

We have a list of modern books on child feeding which you may have by sending a fully self-addressed stamped envelope with your request.

Long Trousers for Little Boys?

Mrs. J.—Those suits for little boys, similar to men's, with long trousers, are atrocious as well as unhygienic. It's bad enough for men to wear them, without inflicting boyhood with such styles.

Have your boy's legs bare in the summertime, so that he can get the ultra-violet rays of the sun on them.

I think it is best for children to wear sandals on account of the possibility of cuts and bruises, and possibly infection.

Sunlight for Babies

During the intense heat of the middle of the day in summer, children had better not be out in the sunshine, but in the morning and the later part of the afternoon, they can be, and they should be out of doors a large part of the day, not only for the sunlight but for the fresh air.

Children should not be allowed to stay in the direct sunlight long enough to be sunburnt to the point of pain. It is quite common for children at the seashore to burn so that some of them are actually ill from it. If they put on their bathing suits for only a short time the first day, and a little longer the next, etc., they will not burn, and after they are thoroughly tanned, they can stand almost any amount of exposure (but not in the hottest part of the day.)

This would apply to babies as well as children. Babies should not have direct sunlight in the eyes. It is all right to have it shine on the face, but not facing the sun.

Mrs. K.—We have a list of books on Sex Hygiene. Send a self-addressed stamped envelope with the request for the list of books recommended to parents and guardians of children.

How to Achieve Beauty

by Mme. Helena Rubenstein

SUMMER BEAUTY BATHS

Cleanliness is half of beauty's battle and this is truer in summer than at any other time of the year. Yet it is surprising how few people take baths intelligently. The woman who takes a hot bath in the morning wonders why she feels tired all day.

Cold baths are wonderfully exhilarating but cannot be recommended for every type of person, especially if she is not accustomed to it from an early age. The happy medium is the tepid bath. Then there are a number of special baths that are wonderful aids to beauty. I know of few remedies that will do as much to help put jangling nerves back in tune and restore a tensely drawn face to beauty as the pine needle bath. Break a pound of resinous pine needles into bits, put them in water and boil for half an hour. Then drain the liquid off and add all or part of it to a tub of warm water.

A real beauty bath is the starch bath. Add six tablespoonfuls of powdered starch to a half tub of warm water and soak yourself in it for several minutes (after your regular cleansing wash, of course). The starch imparts to the skin a delightful velvety softness, whitens it and soothes any irritation.

Then there is the buttermilk bath which many famous actresses swear by. Rub the buttermilk into your skin while standing in the tub. Let it dry a little, then rinse it off with warm and then cold water.

Here is another bath that might surprise you. It is the ozone bath. Open all the windows and let the fresh air in. Then rub yourself vigorously all over without getting into the water at all.

MAKING MODERN MENUS

Mrs. Jones—"We were out in the country last night and bought three dozen fresh eggs at a farm house. Can you use any?"

Mrs. Brown—"I'd love to buy a dozen from you. We are very fond of—"

EGGS AND ASPARAGUS

Vary the lenten dish of eggs this way: Halve eight hard-boiled eggs lengthwise. Drain a large-sized can of asparagus, cut the asparagus into inch lengths. Butter a small baking dish, put in one-half of the eggs, yolks up, and spread the asparagus over them; put on the remaining eggs, yolks down. Make a sauce of one cup of asparagus liquor, two tablespoons each of butter and flour, one tablespoon of salt, one-eighth of a tablespoon each of pepper and paprika and add it to half a cup of cream scalded. Put this over the eggs, sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs and bake fifteen minutes in a hot oven.

EGGS DONOHUE

Three English muffins, six sardines, six eggs, Hollandaise sauce. Split and toast the muffins on one side. Heat sardines, and poach eggs. Arrange sardines on the muffin, then the eggs and cover with Hollandaise sauce. Serve at once.

VEGETABLE OMELET

Put one rounding tablespoon of butter into a frying pan to heat. When hot slice the well-washed vegetables into it, in thin slices. Saute five minutes. Dish onto the platter and put in the oven to keep warm. Break four eggs into a bowl. Add four tablespoons of water and beat slightly. Turn into the hot pan. As this browns, lift the edge to let the liquid run under until all is cooked and the bottom a delicate brown. The top should be creamy. This should be made rapidly and watched every minute. Put two tablespoons of the vegetables from the oven on top of the omelet. Fold and serve immediately on the hot platter, surrounded by the vegetables.

Simple treatment can be used by anyone

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 28:—"I am a practical nurse and have been taking care of a patient—an elderly lady, 72, confined to her bed by paralysis. She had been obliged to lie on her back for months and a bed sore developed—the worst I have ever seen. The skin was broken and inflamed and an ugly secretion came from it. I applied Resinol Ointment and in twenty-four hours noticed improvement. After one month's use the sore was practically healed. Hoping this letter may help someone else, I am, gratefully yours."—(Signed) E. S. Caldwell, 4122 Chester Avenue.

Resinol Ointment has many other uses. As a soothing dressing for chafing, burns, rashes, etc., it is in thousands of homes. Your druggist sells it.

SHE WENT FROM BAD TO WORSE

Cleveland, Ohio.—"After having my first baby, I lost weight, no matter what I did. Then a doctor told me I would be better if I had another baby, which I did. But I got worse, was always sickly and went down to 98 pounds. My neighbor told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it helped her very much, so I tried it. After taking four bottles, I weigh 116 pounds. It has just done wonders for me and I can do my housework now without one bit of trouble."—Mrs. M. Riessinger, 10004 Nelson Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

If some good fairy should appear, and offer to grant your heart's desire, what would you choose? Wealth? Happiness?

Health? That's the best gift. Health is riches that gold cannot buy and surely health is cause enough for happiness.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be the good fairy who offers you better health.

Little Old New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—A current advertisement describes a famous opera in the following snappy terms for the purpose of luring the customers to its movie counterpart:

"THIS IS THE TROPICAL TALE OF CARMEN AND HER TEMPESTUOUS LOVE AFFAIRS, AND OF THE GREAT TOREADOR WHO THREW THE BULL—AND HOW!"

Last night I was addressed by royalty in rather intimate terms. If you do not understand the full force of what I am about to relate to you, it is because you have never been inside Roxy's "Cathedral of Motion Pictures." I was addressed as an equal by one of the elaborately uniformed young men in attendance there. Never make the mistake of referring to these young men as ushers: they are too austere and aristocratic for that. In their get-up they make the Prince of Wales in full dress uniform look like the super who carries a spear in a Roman mob scene.

Can you imagine the shock you would get if a chap you recognized as the Prince of Wales should come up to you and say, "I beg your pardon, old chap; but I'm a stranger in this town. Could you tell me where a toff might get a slug of gin?"

Well, I entered the Roxy and was humbly standing in line waiting for a seat. One of Roxy's young princelings said to me, quite casually mind you:

"Now that's a pretty ballet, isn't it?" He referred to some undraped ladies who were doing what has somehow got to be called "interpretative" dancing.

I nodded.

"See the girl in green, second from the left? She's the captain. She's one of the nicest girls you'd want to meet, awfully nice kid."

It was too much. I mumbled and stammered and hemmed and hawed, and could not think of a thing to say in reply to the uniformed young princeling.

Another gyp racket has been discovered by this column. In lower Manhattan, Nassau St., is filled with haberdashery stores. About a week ago one of my spies saw a sign in one of the windows of such a shop, advertising broadcloth shirts with collars attached for $1 apiece. This seemed a great bargain to him and he entered the shop to lay in a stock of shirts.

But it seemed that the store was just out of shirts his size. They were expecting more tomorrow. In the meantime, however, they had some very fine shirts ordinarily selling at $3.50 (so the clerk said) which they reduced to $2.49. These were not what my spie wanted, so he walked out.

The next day he happened to be passing the store and remembered that another consignment of shirts his size at $1 each were due. Again he was disappointed. The shirts had not come yet.

He grew suspicious. The third time he deliberately went into the shop and asked for a size larger than he actually wore in the broadcloth shirts. Again he was told that there were no more shirts of that size left, but that he could have a bargain in a more expensive shirt.

Just to prove to his own satisfaction that this was a stock trick, he went into the place on three later occasions and asked for three varying sizes of shirts advertised for a dollar. They never had "just that size" on hand. But the sign in the window remains. "Genuine English Broadcloth shirts—$1.00."

Columbus Pacer Takes Feature Event At Fair

ERSKINE DRIVES ORION TO WIN; "UNCLE STEVE" GIVEN OVATION

Favorable Weather And Fast Track Helps Big Day Of Racing—Six Events Win—Joe Hagler Of Xenia Pilots Money Horse

By PHIL FRAME

The largest crowd of several seasons, a fast track, perfect weather and fine racing, all helped inaugurate the delayed opening of the 1927 Southwestern Ohio Shortship Circuit meeting at the Greene County Fair Thursday.

Six races were on Thursday's card, three of which had been held over from Wednesday when a muddy track prevented racing. The feature event of the long program Thursday, the Greene County Lumber Co., $500 purse for 2:14 pacers, was captured by Orion, a gelding, by Ortolan Axworthy, in straight heats. The pacer is owned by George McCrea, Columbus, and was driven by Erskine.

Orion paced the mile in 2:09 1-4 in winning the second heat in the best time of the day. Billy Fitch was second and Steve O'Boy third.

"Uncle" Steve Phillips, Washington C. H., 86-year-old trainer, was enthusiastically applauded by the crowd when he drove his colt Rex Forbes, to victory in the first heat of the three-year-old and under trot for a $300 purse, one of the races held over from the previous day.

The veteran trainer, who never resorts to the whip, won the initial heat in 2:15¼ and set such a fast pace that four horses in the original field of seven were distanced. The veteran experienced tough luck in the last two heats when Rex Forbes broke both times, on the last occasion his check rein breaking, permitting Harvest Watts to win the last two heats and the race. Harvest Watts is owned by A. M. Swan, Marietta, and was driven by W. Roush.

The opening event of the afternoon, the 2:18 trot for a purse of $350, went to Missing Wonder, the favorite, in straight heats. Joe Hagler, Xenia, driving the trotter, which is owned by William Irwin, Lebanon, had a buggy ride in every heat of this race and was never seriously threatened. Antoinetta, owned and driven by Frand Hedrick, Urbana, finished second each heat.

Pauline Evans, ch. m., by Oliver Evans, owned by V. R. McCoy, Washington C. H., and driven by C. Smith, raced to a dramatic victory in the three-year-old and under pace for colts for a purse of $300, the only event of the day that necessitated a fourth heat to decide the winner.

Easter Lilly owned and driven by A. H. Clark, Lima, captured the first heat, and Foxy McKinney, with A. T. Morrison, Fremont, up, won the second heat. After finishing fourth and second, respectively, in the initial two heats, Pauline Evans easily won the third heat. With only the three heat winners returning for the fourth and deciding heat under the rules, Pauline Evans barely beat Foxy McKinney to the wire. It was no hippodrome affair as is usually the case in the event of a fourth heat.

Miss Ellen Todd, b. m., by Todd Mack, driven by Blizzard, and owned by the Baron Bell Farms, Parkersburg, W. Va., was the only other straight heat winner of the day, capturing the third event on Thursday's card, the 2:14 trot for a $400 purse.

The winner had an easy time of it the first two heats but had to be furiously driven in the third heat to wind up ahead of The Belmont, The winner carried The Belmont wide as the two horses neared the wire, otherwise the positions of the two trotters might have been reversed.

The first division of the 2:22 pace, carried over from Wednesday, had eleven starters and furnished plenty of thrills before Vivian Grattan, br. m., by Grattan Royal, owned and driven by A. T. Morrison, agent, Fremont, won a split heat battle.

Vivian Grattan won the first and third heats with Henry Logan, owned by O. W. Crane, agent, Marion, carrying off the second heat. Exceptionally good time was recorded in each heat.

In a race such as that, with a big field starting, racing luck matters largely, the draw for position cutting a large figure. However, both free-legged pacers were fortunate in obtaining good positions.

The second division of the 2:22 pace scheduled for Wednesday, was held over until Friday's card. This race was divided by the track officials because of the great number of entrants. Racing was scheduled to be called at 12:30 Friday to take care of the large card.

The new grandstand was packed to overflowing Thursday and the return of summer weather served to stimulate the highest possible interest. The finishes were extremely close in several contests. It was a long afternoon, the racing starting at 12:30 and finishing at about 7 o'clock. Summaries:

NOTES OF THE RACES

It was estimated by fair board officials that there were 2,050 paid admissions to the new grandstand and 317 more along the quarter stretch. Every seat was taken and the new stands were found to be exceedingly comfortable, a great imurovement over the old.

The track was fast, having rapidly dried out under the sun's warming influence, and withdrawals were few. The contests were excellent and the time testified to the fact the track was in much better condition than was expected.

A. E. Staup, Tippecanoe City is the starter this year. Judges for the racing are J. L. Haston, Eaton; George Beal, Jamestown, and W. B. Bryson, Xenia. Timers are Dan Ulrich, Ingomar; J. W. Faulkner and Willim Dodds, Xenia. C. M. Austin, B. U. Bell and Grant Miller are members in charge of the speed department.

Charley Slaight, driving Steve O'Boy for H. G. Chaney, Sabina, in the 2:14 pace, drew the only $25 fine imposed by Starter Staup during the afternoon. Staup imposed the penalty when Slaigat repeatedly ignored his warning not to score ahead of the pole horse, an offense which delayed the start of the second heat.

Missing Wonder, owned by William Irwin, Lebanon, and driven by Joe Hagler, this city, won the 2:18 trot in straight heats in easy fashion and has been the winner or contender in all starts this season, having won three straight races. The trotter is perfect mannered this year but it was not always thus. The horse was a tough customer last year and made a poor showing but has shown great improvement since Joe Hagler was given charge of its education.

"Uncle" Steve Phillips got a big hand in the winning of the first heat of the three-year-old and under trot with Rex Forbes, but unfortunately the colt broke the last two heats. The veteran trainer drove a particularly spectacular race in the second heat. His trotter broke at the first turn and was ten lengths behind, but recovered and caught up with the leader at the three-quarter mark, and looked the winner until it broke again.

The Xenia Municipal Band played for the entertainment of race fans between heats of every race Thursday, and fair patrons were further amused for ten minutes following the final heat of the 2:14 trot, by the daily exhibition of auto polo by two polo machines of the Xenia Auto Polo Club.

LEARNS OF DEATH

Frank Cannon has received word of the death of his grandfather, Frank Cissina, Peebles, O., Wednesday. Mr. Cissina was ninety-one years old.

"UNCLE STEVE", VETERAN OF HARNESS RACES, DRIVES HERE

"UNCLE STEVE"

"Uncle" Steve Phillips, 86-year-old horseman, uncle of Stephen G. Phillips, popular Xenia race starter, and an entrant in the Greene County Fair races, recalls to mind the fact he was once owner of "Sleepy Tom," king of pacers in his day.

"Uncle" Steve entered his promising colt, Rex Forbes, b. g., by U. Forbes, in the three-year-old and under trot, which was run off Thursday. Not only that but the veteran horseman drove the juvenile himself to second money in the event.

"Uncle Steve" recalled his purchase of "Sleepy Tom" in a recent conversation with J. Robert Bryson, secretary of the fair board.

Foaled in a hotel stable at Bellbrook in 1866, the blind pacer was an unpromising colt in gait and appearance and there was nothing about him that would even hint of the greatness he would achieve on the track.

During his early coltdom and after being broken he led the life of a vagabond and was racked about the streets of Bellbrook as a common "plug." His owner, Isaac Dingler, began training him with but indifferent success.

His career seemed sealed when he became stone blind. He was then withdrawn from the track and repeatedly sold and traded, finally becoming an occupant of a livery stable in Xenia.

Phillips, who trained some trotters and pacers in a small way, bought the chestnut horse for a song and began to train him. After the blind pacer had performed a practice mile in little better than 2:30, the horse made his debut on the turf with the best.

At the races held at Chicago, July 24 and 25, 1879, "Sleepy Tom" won the third, fourth and fifth mile heats in 2:16½, 2:16 and 2:12½ for a purse of $15,000 against the three greatest pacers of the year. His time in the last heat set a world's record. After lowering the record, he was sold for $10,000 and came to an untimely end. When he became too old to be of any value as a race horse, he drifted from one owner to another and finally perished in a burning stable in the West.

He was the greatest pacer, when his chances are taken into consideration, that the world ever saw. "Uncle Steve" is now campaigning his sixtieth year on Ohio tracks.

CENTERVILLE WINS FAIR QUOIT TOURNEY IN LAST MINUTE RUSH

Entering on the closing day and winning eight out of nine games in three matches, the Centerville Quoit Club won the annual intercity quoit tournament at the Greene County Fair Thursday afternoon.

Centerville's team was composed of Lackey and Himes.

The Xenia Quoit Club's No. 1 team took second place while the Xenia No. 2 team won third money. Dayton Shrine Club finished in fourth position, out of the prize money.

Centerville drew down $12.50 as first prize and Xenia won $7.50 for second prize and $5 for third prize.

Centerville took two out of three games from Wagner and Hughes, composing Xenia's No. 1 team, and then won three straight from the Shrine and Xenia's No. 2 pair.

Shrine was again represented by Pickrel and Greene and Xenia No. 2 by Devoe and Merritt.

Sport Ritticisms by BILL RITT

The annual New York state chess tourney is under way. This paper will carry final scores in its Thanksgiving Day issue—if the tourney is over by then.

* * *

Chess tournaments require a great deal of thought. For instance: Why are the held?

Chess rules are very strict. Each opponent must positively make a move within twenty-four hours, and it is absolutely forbidden to snore in the clinches.

Time out is allowed only for shaving and paying the monthly gas bill. A certain type of mattress is also specified for use between moves.

It shall be the duty of the chess referee to wipe away all cobwebs which may gather and to notify the contestants of their insurance premiums coming due.

* * *

BAYLIFFS TO PLAY DOUBLE HEADER IN LEAGUE ON SUNDAY

Rain washed out the scheduled Triangle League game between Wilmington and the Bowersville Bayliffs at Wilmington Sunday, a close inspection of the field revealing an over abundance of water.

Bayliffs will play a double-header at Jamestown Sunday, the first game starting at 1:30 p. m. in the league.

Waynesville continues to hold a half game lead over Wilmington Modern Woodmen have withdrawn from the loop and have been replaced by Bellbrook, the latter club consenting to take the league standing of the Woodmen and finish out the schedule of this team.

League standing:

Team	Won.	Lost.
Waynesville	8	5
Wilmington	7	5
Bowersville	6	5
Bellbrook	6	7
Spring Valley	5	7
Jamestown	5	8

PLAYGROUND LOOP GAMES POSTPONED

Because of confliction with the Greene County Fair, the scheduled Class A Xenia Playground League soft ball game between the Kiwanis Club and Senior Business Men was postponed Thursday night.

Many members of both teams found it inconvenient to participate in the game, and the contest will be played off later.

Junior Business Men and Boy Scouts will meet in a Class A contest Friday night.

A nickel will do it!

JUST 5c will put you and your taste on top of the whole smoke-world! Will bring you a fresh Havana Ribbon—mellow and fragrant from the box!

Hard to believe? Sure it is! You're always hearing about 5c cigars that are "really worth more." But listen. Here's a cigar that actually sold for more for years. That sold big! And the only reason the price is a nickel today is those self-same volume sales!

Man, it's an honest-to-goodness real cigar—Havana Ribbon. The kind you'd pick on pure smoke merit alone! Just try it. A nickel will prove it at the nearest cigar store. Will prove it with sheer mellowness and fragrant satisfaction the very first draw you take!

BRAINSTORM? WHY?

If your brain is smudged with poisons in the system, due to intestinal stasis (constipation) you may be subject to rash, irritable mood. You may be peevish, cross and unpleasant company. Don't go round with a "grouch"—rid the system, correct the constipated bowels, the sour, gassy stomach, the sick headache and then be free from grouch or brainstorms. You'll live longer; you'll be happier; you'll work and play better.

Take Blackburn's Casca-Royal Pills for a pleasant, prompt, thorough cleaning of the intestinal tract. Take them to wake up the lazy liver, the sluggish 32 feet of intestines. Get the relief of a bowel-nerve tonic, and, see how different this sweet, little pills acts—no nausea, no griping, just a smooth abundant movement. Halitosis, upset stomach, sick headache and other misery leaves quickly. Energy, pep, high spirits and good nature replace such ills.

BRINGING UP FATHER — By GEORGE McMANUS

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

The Rovin' Ritzies
By Flo Frederick

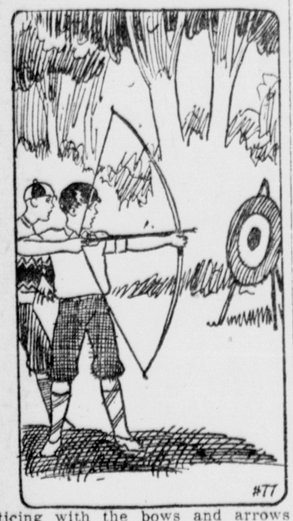

Bill again wins Ritzie fame By winning in the archery game.

"If you'll let us use your target, you can use our Indian bows and arrows."

That was the bargain that Rag and Tag made with the Nelson boys.

So it was that a big archery contest was staged for 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Nelson back yard.

Patsy and Betty had been practicing with the bows and arrows every afternoon so that they would be good enough to enter the contest with the boys.

Marty had put up a score board and everything was in readiness.

It had been decided that an arrow hitting the bull's eye should count as ten, the first white ring, six, the first red ring, four, the next white one, two, and the last red ring, one.

Each contestant was to shoot ten arrows in all but to take turns. Each round in which the player had shot one arrow, the one nearest the center of the bull's eye, was to receive five additional points.

To decide the order in which they were to shoot, each of the players shot one arrow, and then took his turn according to his position on the target.

Patsy was the only one who hit the bull's eye on the first round and she was so excited over it that she didn't even hit the target when it came her turn again.

It was great fun because one knew as much about the game as the next one. It wasn't like in marbles on which some of the boys were so much better than others. This was a new game to all of them and they suffered good and bad luck alike.

As Tag said, "If you hit the bull's eye one time, you're sure to miss altogether the next." That was all except Bill.

He had started out the poorest of all but on each successive turn he had come nearer and nearer to the bull's eye and his arrows were flying straighter every time.

Whether it was the Indian suit or just his natural luck that did the trick, Bill came out three points ahead and so the Ritzies were proud once more of their newest member.

Everyone had such a good time that afternoon that they passed the word along and soon all the girls and boys in Mayville were holding archery contests.

The Ritzies hope that all the girls and boys who are reading their stories every day will give their bows and arrows a try this summer.

Sally's Shoulders

"Sally—Sally—Get home here's fast as you can!" she heard her gasp.

READ THIS FIRST:

SALLY JEROME, pretty and clever, is the prop and mainstay of her family in the absence of her father, who has not lived with her mother for nine years. The family consists of MRS. JEROME, the twins, BEAU and MILLIE, and Sally, herself. Mrs. Jerome enjoys poor health, so Sally does the housework mornings and office work for grouchy MR. PEEVEY, down town, afternoons.

In the flat below the Jeromes' flat lives TED SLOAN, an automobile salesman, who wants Sally to marry him and keep on working. But the only man who interests her is JOHN NYE, whose real estate office is just across the hall from Mr. Peevey's. Nye hires Millie as his secretary and becomes blindly infatuated, buying her expensive gifts and lending her his car, etc. But Millie confesses to Sally that, although she intends to try to marry Nye because of his money, she is much more in love with a man named DAVIDSON. She had known Davidson when she worked at Bursall's, where he was a bond salesman.

Beau and Millie give very little towards the upkeep of the flat. They even borrow from Mrs. Jerome when one of her husband's checks arrive. Sally has a hard time keeping house, and occasionally has to borrow from her aunt, EMILY JEROME, who is giving up school teaching to turn her old home into a wayside inn. Aunt Emily wants Sally to go into business with her, but Sally is afraid to give up her $21 a week with Mr. Peevey to take a chance elsewhere.

Beau gets $110 from Ted Sloan by means of two bad checks. When Ted threatens to turn him over to the police, Sally borrows the money to pay him from Mr. Peevey. But when she gives it to Beau, he uses it to elope with his fiancee, MABEL WILMOT. Sally starts paying off both Ted and Mr. Peevey at the rate of $2 a week. Beau and Mabel borrow from her, too, and she is at her wits' ends when Millie is taken sick and has to have a doctor, which means more money. Mrs. Jerome has turned over her last check to Beau and Millie for a wedding present, and Sally is almost without a dollar. One afternoon while Millie is sick at home, and John Nye is out of town, Sally sees Davidson at Nye's office door, asking for Millie. She goes out to speak to him.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER XXIX

"DID you want to see Millie?" asked Sally, walking straight up to Davidson and shaking hands with him in her brisk, business-like way.

"Yes—but I'd rather see you," Davidson answered, holding her hand in both of his. "Do you work up here?" His cold, gray eyes lifted and looked beyond her into Mr. Peevey's funny, old-fashioned office, with its electric stove, its roll-top desk and red calico chair cushions.

Sally nodded and drew her hand away from his. Her face flushed, but her eyes met his straight and full. Sally's eyes had no flirtatious, side-long glances. Set bewitchingly wide apart and fringed with long, silky lashes, they had the frankness of a child's eyes.

"Millie's at home today. She was awfully sick last night," she said. "And Mr. Nye's out of town. I'll tell Millie you were here. Good-bye."

She was turning to go back to Mr. Peevey's office when a sudden thought struck her and she came back to where Davidson stood watching her.

"Millie said something to me last night about your coming to work for Mr. Nye," she said. "Do you mind my asking if that was what you came for?"

It was a daring question, but Davidson answered it with a jerk of his head.

"The bond business hasn't been so good lately, and I thought I'd try selling lots instead," he said shortly, with a smile that did not light up his gray eyes. "How would you like to meet me after work today, and we'll go and buy Millie some roses?"

Sally shook her head at him and laughed. I imagine you can buy roses without any of my help," she smiled. "You look as if you'd bought plenty of them in your time. Besides, I've got to hurry home today."

That night when she got home Millie was sitting up in bed eating chocolate ice cream in a big bowl. Beside her sat Mrs. Jerome with another bowl of it in her lap.

"Ice cream!" exclaimed Sally, coming to a stop in the doorway. "Did the doctor say Millie could have ice cream?" It seemed to her that chocolate ice cream was a pretty heavy diet for an invalid.

Mrs. Jerome looked guilty. "Well, he said she could have liquid food," she said. "And ice cream is liquid—after it's melted. We were so hot, and we just telephoned the drug store man to send a quart of it up to us. Millie says she's just burning up."

Sally saw at a glance that Millie was feverish. Her eyes had a hard glitter and her cheeks were flushed to the temples.

"You give me that stuff!" cried Sally, and leaning across the bed she took the bowl out of her sister's small, clutching hands. "Mother, you know that she shouldn't have a thing but clear soup or milk. . . . That's what the doctor meant by a liquid diet."

"Well, there wasn't any milk in the house, or any soup either," replied her mother with a pathetic quiver in her voice. "I suppose I could have gone traipsing out in the heat for some—but the drug store is so nice about delivering things, and I thought the ice cream wouldn't hurt Millie a bit—"

The sound of her voice followed Sally out to the kitchen, where she threw the remaining ice cream into the sink and turned a stream of hot water upon it.

She opened the ice box to see what there was for supper. A bowl of cold mashed potatoes stood there. An uncooked sirloin steak was wrapped in waxed paper on the top shelf, and there was a big dish of salad greens beside it.

"We'll have potato balls and salad and tea for supper—that will be plenty for Mother and me," Sally said to herself. "Millie doesn't need anything tonight. And in the morning I'll use half of that steak to make her a bowl of soup. The other half can be broiled for tomorrow night's supper."

She knew that it was going to take a good deal of careful planning and figuring to get through the week with the tiny sum of money that lay folded tight in the bottom of her purse. . . . Seven dollars. Not quite seven dollars.

She went back to Millie's room, where Mrs. Jerome was finishing her ice cream in an aggrieved silence. She sniffed and looked out of the window when Sally came and stood beside Millie's bed.

"Dear," said Sally, quietly. "I hate to talk to you about money just now—but I had to give the doctor five dollars last night, and I wonder if you have any money left from your salary."

Millie raised her eyebrows. "I suppose it will all go on doctor bills," she grumbled. "And it was just nonsense to call Ambleside for me. I didn't need him at all."

She shot a look of fury at her mother. "Why don't you go and call Beau and Mabel up and ask them to give you back part of that two hundred?" she drawled, her blue eyes smouldering. "Then you could pay the doctor without calling on me for the little bit of money I've got—"

"I've tried to get them all day," quavered Mrs. Jerome, half rising from her chair. "But Beau wasn't at the bank and Mabel wasn't at Bursall's. I don't know where they can be."

"Probably out spending the money!" Millie came back at her indignantly. "Why don't you try to get them at their boarding house?"

As she spoke there came a loud drumming on the front door.

The three women looked at one another. . . . That was Beau's knock!

"Talk about the angels and they're sure to appear," quoted Mrs. Jerome. "There are Beau and Mabel now.' She turned to go to let them in.

"You get some of that money from them! Do you hear?" Millie shouted as she vanished.

"Hush!" Sally said pleadingly. "Don't get yourself excited, dear. Do lie down and take things easy. You look so hot, Millie. Don't you think I ought to have the doctor again?"

In the living room Beau and Mabel and Mrs. Jerome were all crowded at the front window looking down into the street.

Mabel turned at the sound of Sally's step on the carpet and seized her by her arms, dancing her around the room. "We've bought a car!" she squealed. "A car!—A roadster! Take a look—see!—Beau and Mabel have got a car of their own at last!"

She seemed to be beside herself with joy as she pranced around the cozy little room, waving her arms and kicking out with her slim silk-clad legs.

Mrs. Jerome looked at her with great disfavor. "I don't see what you're yelling about!" she said grimly. "It strikes me as a great piece of tom-foolishness! To buy a car when you don't own a single stick of furniture, and haven't a nickel laid away in the bank for a rainy day!"

She went out to her own room and banged the door shut behind her.

Sally, herself, could have wept as she looked at the gaudy little second-hand roadster that stood out in the street. Even through the twilight its bright red paint glowed like a bonfire, and its hood was decorated by a shiny brass figure of a bathing girl. It was exactly the kind of car that she would have expected Mabel to pick out.

"Beau," she couldn't help saying, "you might have paid some of your debts first."

She thought of the load of them he had laid on her own shoulders, and that she was doing her level best to pay off within a year.

But if the thought of them weighed down her spirits it did not seem to worry Beau at all. Not a shadow crossed his blond face or settled in his eyes.

"Got anything to eat?" he asked blithely. "We've been riding around all afternoon and we're as empty as can be."

"We've got hollow legs, we're so hungry!" warbled Mabel, following him to the kitchen where they soon made short work of the steak that Sally had been saving for the next day.

"We've rented a flat," Beau said, between great mouthsful of it. We're going to move in tomorrow. It's furnished."

"It's as cute as a crow's nest," added Mabel. "Everything built in. In-a-door beds, and breakfast nook, and everything! I'm just as batty about it as a bat!"

They were having a fine time with Mrs. Jerome's check. That was plain enough.

The next morning when Sally left the house at 10 minutes after 11, Millie was still asleep.

Sally had looked in once or twice during the morning, and each time Millie had been lying in the same position, her face flushed, her breath coming regularly but quickly.

"She's just fine," Mrs. Jerome had decided. "Sleep's what she needs. She's hardly ever in bed before 1 or 2 o'clock, you know—and it's my guess that she's just worn out."

So Sally had not been worried when she started out into the bluest, brightest, windiest October day that ever was.

The office was empty when she arrived, and the morning mail was scattered on the floor by the door where the postman had slipped it.

The telephone rang shrilly.

"That's Mr. Peevey, to see if I'm here on time," thought Sally and she smiled to herself as she lifted the receiver.

But the smile vanished instantly.

Then there was a click and silence.

HARD TO SUIT

ASTORIA, N. Y.—Nathan Hollander, an unfortunate tailor, lost a legal suit and a cloth suit in one and the same day.

Hollander started action against John Flanigan, of No. 276 Seventh avenue, Astoria, for $22.50 for a suit for which he asserted Flanigan had never paid him. The case was before Justice Hetherington.

Flanigan had the suit in court with him and donned it in a side room, explaining that he would not wear it on the street. When he entered the courtroom, a roar of laughter greeted him. The suit, contrary to all the laws of tailoring for men's clothing, bore the buttons on the left side of the coat, vest and trousers. It was tight in the seat and full in the front.

Hollander offered to transfer the buttons and buttonholes to opposite sides of the garments if he were paid for the suit, but Justice Hetherington would not hear of it. He dismissed Hollander's complaint, awarding a judgment of $25 to Flanigan. Flanigan also kept the suit.
